He was posted to the Detective Department in 1910 and quickly made his mark. He has earned the commendations not only of his superior officers but also of magistrates and judges for careful investigation work. He did particularly good work in connection with enquiries regarding foreigners during the Great War. He was posted to the Special Branch in July 1937 since when he has been employed on labour and trades-union work and has been instrumental in the collection of very valuable information.

During the period of his service in the Calcutta Police, this officer has earned 53 commendations and has received 89 rewards. He has also been awarded gold watches on two occasions, has been several times specially commended and was specially mentioned in the Calcutta Police Administration Report for the years 1921, 1931, 1932, 1933, 1934 and 1935. Throughout his service his work has been marked by a high standard of devotion to duty.

49. Captain Henry Cecil John Hunt, King's Royal Rifle Corps.—Captain H. C. J. Hunt, King's Royal Rifle Corps, joined as a Military Intelligence Officer, Bengal, in 1934, and after some months in Bankura and Chittagong, where he immediately showed sign of promise, he was sent to Noakhali where his work was of a very high order.

His zeal and sense of duty was so high that he never spared himself or considered his health with the result that he so impaired his health that he had to resign this appointment and proceed on leave.

He rejoined the Bengal Police as Military Intelligence Officer in February 1938 and after working at Rangpur, where he was of great assistance to the Superintendent of Police and made quick and intelligent contact with the local people, he was specially selected to be lent to the Eastern States Agency for service in the Orissa States after the murder of Major Bazalgettee. On return he was posted to Midnapore, one of the most difficult districts in the province. He has obtained a good working knowledge of the Bengali language—the only Military Intelligence Officer who has—and has a gift for contact with Indians and a flair for work of this nature.

50. Major William Godfrey Hale, 5th Marhatta Light Infantry.—Major William Godfrey Hale, 5th Marhatta Light Infantry, joined as Military Intelligence Officer on 4th August 1936, and after some preliminary training in Dacca, was sent as Military Intelligence Officer to Midnapore, one of the most difficult districts in the province. He has been of great help to his Superintendent of Police in the Intelligence Branch of the district, has worked hard and whole-heartedly to obtain and maintain contact with the people, and to inculcate clean and sporting ideas among the schools, in order to counteract revolutionary and undesirable political propaganda. His work as liaison officer on flag marches with the troops was so successful in bringing into touch the local people that his reports on these marches were circulated as an example to all other Military Intelligence Officers.

51. Khondkar Fazle Sobhan, Indian Police, Deputy Commissioner of Police.—Mr. Sobhan entered the Police in 1925 and his work throughout his service has been marked by great devotion to duty, marked administrative ability together with initiative and readiness to accept responsibility.

His work as Superintendent of Police, Khulna, in combating terrorist and other subversive activities was marked by all the qualities mentioned above.

He joined the Calcutta Police in November 1937 as Deputy Commisisoner, Port Police, and in that capacity ably and tactfully handled a serious strike amongst Dock Labour.

In July 1938 he was put in charge of the North District of the Calcutta Police, always a difficult charge, and is still holding that post. During this period he did conspicuously good work in dealing with an outbreak of communal trouble in Cossipore where his prompt and firm action prevented the trouble from spreading to other parts of the City where, at the time, communal feeling was strained.

Apart from this, he has rendered valuable services to Government in dealing with other serious communal problems which might have led to trouble.

NOTIFICATIONS.

24-Parganas.—No. 1173P.H.—23rd July 1940.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 311 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932 (Bengal Act XV of 1932), the Governor is pleased to make the following rules for the alteration of the existing house connections given under the metering system so as to conform to the decentralised storage system, in the Garden Reach Municipality in the district of the 24-Parganas:—

Rules.

When the Commissioners deem it expedient for the maintenance of an efficient water-supply that existing connections from streets mains to houses with metering system granted under the rules published with notification No. 302T M , dated the 27th May 1913, as subsequently amended, should be altered so as to make them conform to the Decentralised Storage System, they may direct that such alteration shall be made.

1. The connection after alteration shall consist of two portions—

(a) The service-pipe from the street main to the boundary of the holding, including ferrule, stop-cock and check pipes;

(b) the storage tank (or tanks) with service-pipe connecting to it from the boundary of the holding, also outlet pipes, taps and other accessories as required.

2. The items referred to in clause (a) of rule 1 shall be provided and fixed by and at the expense of the Commissioners, and such pipes and fittings shall remain as their property. If the Commissioners decide to make use of a part or the whole of the existing pipes and fittings, the present value of the same shall be paid to the owner or occupier, such value being determined by the Commissioners.

3. The items referred to in clause (b) of rule 1 shall be provided and fixed at the expense of the owner or occupier and shall be maintained by him in good working order. The tank is to be suitably covered and projected and is to be provided with locked lid, ball-valve stop-valve and overflow-pipe.

4. In the case of connections to which a meter was attached by the owner or occupier prior to the date of introduction of the decentralised storage system provided in these rules the Commissioners shall make a contribution of Rs. 40 towards the cost of the work referred to in clause (b) of rule 1 when such work has been completed to their satisfaction.

5. Each holding must have a separate connection to the municipal main supply-pipe. On application a holding consisting of two or more houses (excluding the outhouse) in one compound may, at the discretion of the Commissioners, be split into parts and each part connected separately to the municipal supply pipe, provided the sum total of the daily supply in all such parts shall not exceed the quantity of water admissible to the holding under rule 10. Extension from the communication-pipe of one holding to another holding shall not be permitted and combination of holdings for the purpose of these rules shall not be allowed.

6. No tapping or branching off of any kind whatsoever of the service-pipe referred to in clause (b) of rule 1 shall be allowed except at approximately the same as that of the ball-valve.

7. The owner or occupier shall not permit the service-pipe, including the items referred to in clauses (a) and (b) of rule 1 or any part thereof, to be altered, removed or interfered with by any person other than an authorised representative of the Commissioners, who shall be empowered by the Commissioners to alter or adjust the service-pipe as may from time to time be necessary for the maintenance of the requisite flow of water.

8. The tank referred to in clause (b) of rule 1 shall be durable and water-tight and the cover overflow-pipe and other accessories shall be so constructed that mosquitoes cannot enter the tank. The ball-valve and other fittings shall be exact duplicates of standard samples kept in the office of the Commissioners and approved by them at a meeting. The storage tank or tanks shall be cleaned and sterilized quarterly at the cost of the owner or occupier by the staff of the Commissioners under the supervision of one of their officers and the said officer shall have the power of locking up the tank or tanks if he thinks so desirable.

9. Every storage tank shall be fitted with an overflow-pipe, the end of which shall project over the wall of the house and shall be placed in a conspicuous position. Discharge of water from the overflow-pipe means that the ball-valve is failing to function, and the owner or occupier shall notify the waterworks officers every time he finds such discharge occurring, and such officers shall, if necessary, rectify the defect with the help of the staff of and with the materials belonging to the Commissioners and charge the cost thereof to the owner or occupier.

10. Every owner or occupier of any holding, in respect of which a connection has been made under these rules, shall be entitled to a supply of water corresponding to the annual valuation of such holding, according to the following table:

12. In case the owner or occupier requires for a special occasion or for any other purpose more water than the amount to which he is entitled according to rule 10 or rules 10 and 11 together, as the case may be, he may apply to the Commissioners in Form B (obtainable at the municipal office free of charge) for a temporary connection. He shall pay in advance the sum of Rs. 5 per tank, and also shall pay in advance for every week or part of a week during which he retains the temporary connection the following charges:—

He shall state in his application the number of days for which the connection is required.

13. On receipt of the application, together with the fees as provided in rule 12, the Commissioners shall forthwith instal within the compound and at a level of two feet above ground an additional storage tank (or tanks) of 300 gallons capacity with ball-valve, and two taps fixed to each tank. They shall connect the same to the street main by a service-pipe or pipes, and do all other work necessary to commence and maintain the supply.

The Commissioners shall keep in stock a number of tanks, with pipes, fittings, etc., for the above purpose.

14. The payment referred to in rule 12 shall be made once a week. In case the owner or occupier fails to make the payment weekly, the Commissioners or their officers may at once stop the additional supply of water by cutting off the temporary connection and remove the storage tank or tanks, temporary service-pipe, etc., fixed for such connection.

15. Two or more such temporary connections may be taken, if required, on payment of the additional costs and weekly charges.

16. The Commissioners may cut off the connection between any waterworks of the Commissioners and any holding to which water is supplied from such works, or may turn off such supply, in any of the following cases, viz:—

(c) if the occupier in any way interferes with, damages or alters the service-pipe; and

(d) if the occupier refuses to admit any officer duly empowered in that behalf into the holding for the purpose of making any examination or inspection of the service-pipe or storage tank, or prevents such officer from making such examination or inspection:

Provided that twenty-four hours' notice in writing of such examination or inspection may be demanded.

17. The works required under clause (b) of rule 1 shall be carried out by a person or firm employed by owner or occupier and approved by the Commissioners. 24-Parganas.—No. 1175P.H.—23rd July 1940.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 311 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932 (Bengal Act XV of 1932), the Governor is pleased to make the following rules for the regulation of the supply of filtered water to private premises for domestic purposes which may be granted hereafter by the Commissioners of the Garden Reach Municipality in the district of 24-Parganas.

Rules.

So long as the Commissioners deem it practicable and consistent with the maintenance of an efficient water-supply, they may grant to any owner or occupier of a holding paying a water rate imposed under the provisions of Chapter VIII of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932, on the annual value of such holding, when such annual value is not less than Rs. 100 a connecting-pipe from the service-pipes of the Commissioners for the purpose of leading water to such holding for domestic purposes only.

1. The owner or occupier of any holding requiring water to be laid on to such holding for domestic purposes must apply for the same on the printed form A to be supplied free of cost at the municipal office. The conditions subject to which a house connection will be given are set out in the form, and the owner or occupier shall sign the statement undertaking to observe the rules before a house connection will be given. Every house connection shall be taken in hand within three months of its sanction. If a house connection is not taken in hand within the said period the sanction given for it shall be deemed to be revoked and fresh sanction shall be required before the connection is made.

2. A fee of Rs. 75 shall be paid to the Commissioners by such owner or occupier for such connection to a municipal main supply-pipe before any work is commenced, such fee to be in addition to all other costs and charges imposed under these rules.

3. Each holding must have a separate connection to the municipal main supply-pipe. On application a holding consisting of two or more houses (excluding the outhouse) in one compound may, at the discretion of the Commissioners, be split into parts and each part connected separately to the municipal supply-pipe, provided the sum total of the daily supply in all such parts shall not exceed the quantity of water admissible to the holding under rule 10. All such connections shall, for the purpose of rule 2, be treated as separate connections. Extension from the communication-pipe of one holding to another holding shall not be permitted and combination of holdings for the purpose of these rules shall not be allowed.

4. The connection shall consist of two portions—

(a) the service-pipe from the street main to the boundary of the holding, including ferrule, stop-cock and check-pipes;

(b) the storage tank (or tanks) with service-pipe connecting to it from the boundary of the holding, also outlet-pipes, taps and other accessories as required.

5. The items referred to in clause (a) of rule 4 shall be provided and fixed by and at the expense of the Commissioners, and such pipes and fittings shall remain as their property.

6. The items referred to in clause (b) of rule 4 shall be provided and fixed at the expense of the owner or occupier and shall be maintained by him in good working order. The tank is to be suitably covered and protected and is to be provided with locked lid, ball-valve, stop-valve and overflow-pipe. The inlet and outlet pipes shall be so laid that they will be protected from the heat of the sun.

7. The owner or occupier shall not permit the service-pipe including the items referred to in clauses (a) and (b) of rule 4 or any part thereof, to be altered, removed or interfered with by any person other than an authorised representative of the Commissioners, who shall be empowered by the Commissioners to alter or adjust the service-pipe as may from time to time be necessary for the maintenance of the requisite flow of water. No tapping or branching off of the service-pipe shall be allowed except at a level approximately the same as that of the ball-valve.

8. The tank referred to in clause (b) of rule 4 shall be durable and water-tight and the cover overflow-pipe and other accessories shall be so constructed that mosquitoes cannot enter the tank. The ball-valve and other fittings shall be exact duplicates of standard samples kept in the office of the Commissioners and approved by them at a meeting. The storage tank or tanks shall be cleaned and sterilized quarterly at the cost of the owner or occupier by the staff of the Commissioners under the supervision of one of their officers and the said officer shall have the power of locking up the tank or tanks if he thinks so desirable.

9. Every storage tank shall be fitted with an overflow-pipe, the end of which shall project over the wall of the house and shall be placed in a conspicuous position. Discharge of water from the overflow-pipe means that the ball-valve is failing to function, and the owner or occupier shall notify the waterworks officers every time he finds such discharge occurring, and such officers shall, if necessary, rectify the defect with the help of the staff of and with materials belonging to the Commissioners, and charge the cost thereof to the owner or occupier.

10. Every owner or occupier of any holding, in respect of which a connection has been made under these rules, shall be entitled to a supply of water corresponding to the annual valuation of such holding, according to the following table:—

He shall state in his application the number of days for which the connection is required.

13. On receipt of the application, together with the fees as provided in rule 12, the Commissioners shall forthwith instal within the compound and at a level of two feet above ground an additional storage tank (or tanks) of 300 gallons capacity with ball-valve, and two taps fixed to each tank. They shall connect the same to the street main by a service-pipe or pipes, and do all other works necessary to commence and maintain the supply.

The Commissioners shall keep in stock a number of tanks, with pipes, fittings, etc., for the above purpose.

14. The payment referred to in rule 12 shall be made once a week. 2. When any person intends to instal a privy or urinal on the water-carriage system, and there is no municipal underground sewerage system with which it may be connected, he may instal such privy or urinal on the condition that he provides a covered septic tank, and a soak pit or a disposal gallery in conformity with the provisions of by-law 8.

3. A covered septic tank shall be constructed in accordance with the type design to be kept at the municipal office, together with means for disposal of the effluent from the septic tank.

Soak pits and disposal galleries shall be constructed in accordance with the type plans to be kept at the municipal office.

6. The connecting sewers between privies or urinals and septic tanks shall be constructed with glazed earthenware pipes jointed with cement mortar. The connecting sewers shall be water-tight under an internal pressure equivalent to four feet head of water, and they shall, if the Commissioners so require, be demonstrated to be water-tight by the application of a hydraulic test.

7. The minimum quantity of water which shall be provided for the flushing of the water-closets and urinals is five gallons per user per day.

8. No septic tank, soak pit, or disposal gallery shall be constructed in ground which is liable to flood in the rainy season, and no soak pit or gallery shall be constructed within one hundred feet (horizontal distance) from any common well or tube well which is used as a source of drinking water-supply. By order of the Governor,

K. G. MORSHED,
Joint Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Report of the Court of Enquiry appointed by the Government of Bengal under section 3(a) of the Trade Disputes Act, 1929 (Act VII of 1929), to investigate the trade dispute between Messrs. Andrew Yule & Co., Ltd., 8, Clive Row, Calcutta, Managing Agents, the New Central Jute Mills, Ghusury, Howrah, and the workers of the Weaving Department of the said mills.

Mr. A. Z. Khan, District Magistrate, Howrah, was appointed to be the Court of Enquiry under section 3(a) of the Trade Dispute Act under notification No. 2596Com. of the Department of Commerce and Labour, dated 19th August 1939. Mr. Khan took up the enquiry on 4th October 1939, but before he could finish the enquiry his services ceased to be available as he was transferred from Howrah. Under section 10(2) of the said Act I was appointed with effect from 29th November 1939 to be the Court of Enquiry under section 3 of the said Act, vide Government of Bengal, Department of Commerce and Labour, notification No. 3785Com., dated 13th December 1939.

The events leading to the appointment of the Court may be briefly summarised as follows.

The New Central Jute Mills are located on the bank of the river Hooghly at Ghusury, Howrah, and is managed by Messrs. Andrew Yule & Co., Ltd. In all about 3,000 persons including 500 women are employed in the mills. The number of men in the Weaving Department who are parties to this dispute is 709. There are 709 looms in the mills. Mr. G. Martin has been the Manager of the mills since 8th October 1938. He took over charge from Mr. Yeaman, who had been officiating as Manager for six months and who on relief by Mr. Martin reverted to his substantive post as a Departmental Overseer in the mills. At the time of the occurrence the Weaving Department was in charge of Mr. George Gibbs. He had been on leave for a few months and took over charge from Mr. John Courtney on 6th May 1939. The other staff in this department consisted of two head sardars, named Kedar and Basir, and several line sardars. The weavers are paid weekly and their average weekly earning varies between Rs. 7-8 and Rs. 10.

The present trade dispute arose out of the stoppage of work by the weavers on the afternoon of Wednesday, the 17th May 1939. For some months prior to that date, it is alleged that the weavers had been complaining of short supply and bad quality of yarn. It is alleged that there was a falling off in their income for these reasons. It is alleged that the stock of yarn ran so short that the men had often to wait for a long time to get the supply of yarn. There are only two windows in the cops godown from which the cops were supplied. On account of the shortage there was a scramble for the yarn and the weavers had to fight their way up to the cops godown to get the yarn. It is alleged that the weavers complained from time to time to the line sardars, the head sardars and the European overseer of the Weaving Department, apparently without much relief. On the 16th May in course of the scramble for the yarn one of the weavers, named Nagen, received injuries on his person. This incident led the weavers to decide to stop work for half a day so as to enable the Spinning Department to produce sufficient surplus stock of yarn. It is alleged that the daily outturn of the yarn at the Spinning Department was just enough to meet the demands of the Weaving Department. On behalf of the weavers it is said that they came to the decision at some financial sacrifice only to preserve peace and amity among the weavers. They intimated their decision to the line sardars, the head sardars and through them to Mr. Gibb, the departmental overseer. Mr. Gibb, however, asked the men not to stop work for half a day and he assured them that the supply would improve. This assurance, however, failed to convince the weavers and they acted according to their pre-arranged plan and stopped work on the afternoon of Wednesday, the 17th May 1939. The weavers say that they did not work at all on this afternoon, while the management contends that some men worked for about five minutes and then stopped the work at the instigation of two men, Nagendra Nath Neogi and Kallan Khan.

On the morning of the 18th the weavers turned up as usual for work. They found sufficient supply of yarn and started work. Soon after, the departmental overseer Mr. Gibb directed Nagen and Kallan Khan to go to the office and receive their wages and told them that they had been dismissed. The other weavers came to know of this dismissal and stopped their work. It is said that whenever they stopped work the Manager usually came to enquire into the cause of the stoppage. The weavers thought that on this occasion also if they stopped work the Manager would come and they would enquire about the cause of dismissal of Nagen and Kallan and request him to reinstate them. The Manager, it is alleged, did not come. At 11 a.m. they went out with the workers of the other departments intending to come back when the whistle was blown at 1-30 p.m. It is alleged that no whistle was blown on that day and when the weavers came back they found the gates closed. From the 18th to 23rd May, the men remained absent from work. During this period Khan Sahib S. A. E. B. Murshedi, Assistant Labour Commissioner, addressed the strikers at a meeting and persuaded them to resume work unconditionally without the two dismissed men.

On behalf of the weavers an application was made to the Government by Maulvi Shafaatullah Khan under section 3 of the Trade Dispute Act with the prayer that the dispute between the workers and the management be referred to a Court of Enquiry. A Court of Enquiry was accordingly appointed with the direction to enquire into and report on the circumstances leading up to and the causes of the strike at the New Central Jute Mills at Ghusury on Wednesday, the 17th May 1939, and in particular to report—

(1) Whether the yarn used in the mill was of satisfactory quality.

(2) Whether there was any shortage of yarn, and if so, whether adequate steps were taken by the mill authorities to increase the supply.

(3) Whether the summary dismissal of the two workers in connection with the strike was justifiable, and if not, what lesser punishment, if any, would have sufficed, and what compensation would be suitable if the men are not re-employed.

Mr. A. Z. Khan commenced the enquiry on 4th October 1939. The written statement of the weavers was already on record and the written statement on behalf of the New Central Jute Mills was filed on 6th October 1939.

Mr. Khan examined three witnesses and I examined the rest of the witnesses on behalf of the weavers and all the witnesses on behalf of the management. In all seven witnesses were examined for the weavers and seven for the mill. Mr. Murshedi was examined as a Court witness. On 8th January 1940, I visited the New Central Jute Mills at Ghusury. The parties by mutual agreement were not present at the inspection. I went round the mills and questioned men of various sections; then I went to the mill office and saw some papers from the Manager.

The representatives of the workers were given full opportunity to examine the registers produced by the management. The arguments were heard on the 16th January 1940. At the enquiry, the Company was represented by Mr. P. C. Mallick, Advocate, Howrah, Mr. G. Martin, Manager of the New Central Jute Mills. The weavers were represented by Mr. Mohiuddin Khan, Barrister-at-law and Mr. M. Shafaatullah Khan.

I am grateful to the representatives of both parties for the help they rendered to me for coming to a decision. The Company very kindly supplied me with all records and other information that were asked for. I take this opportunity of thanking them for their cordial co-operation.

I shall now take up each of the issues separately.

1. Quality of the yarn.—On this point the case for the weavers is that the quality of the yarn at times was very bad and that they complained about it very often. The case for the Company, on the other hand, is that the quality of the yarn was not bad but was uniformly of the quality used before. In support of their case the Company have referred to the reports of Testing Officers of the Government of Bengal. It appears that the Company had entered into a contract with Government for supplying some sandbags for war purposes. Periodical tests as to the quality of the yarn were made every two or three weeks. Government Inspectors came to the mill, took up a few pieces of hessian cloth, cut and took them away and tested them. The mill authorities did not select the cloth for testing. These test reports show that the yarn was of standard quality. These test reports cannot be brushed aside. On behalf of the workers it has been argued that as the samples were taken by Government Inspectors only periodically at an interval of two or three weeks, their reports at best show that on those days the quality of the yarn was good. On other days the quality might have been bad as alleged by the weavers. It seems to me to be too much of a coincidence that the yarn would be found of good quality on all the days when samples were taken by Government Inspectors. The conclusion seems to me that there was nothing particularly wrong with the quality of the yarn. On the other hand all the witnesses on behalf of the weavers say that the yarn was bad. That the weavers occasionally complained about the bad quality of the yarn is admitted by some of the witnesses examined on behalf of the Company although they deny that there was any truth in these complaints. Muhammad Basir, one of the head sardars, has stated. "The weavers had complained to me about the quality of the yarn. I reported the matter to Mr. Gibb. When there was such a complaint the matter was looked into and the quality of the yarn improved". Kedar Giri, the other head sardar, says: "The quality of the yarn produced is not always uniformally good. Sometimes it is good and sometimes bad. Since Mr. Martin came as Manager there has been no particular deterioration of quality". He also says: "Immediately before the strike the quality of the yarn might have been bad".

Basir Sardar further says: "The weavers used to take out roots and specks from the yarn and show them to the Sahib in a heap". Mr. Gibb, the overseer for the Weaving Department, admits that "in all mills usually the specks and roots are collected by some of the weavers and laid on the table of the overseer in charge". Mr. Gibb's statement would show that roots and specks are often found in the yarn and the finding of such roots and specks does not necessarily mean that the yarn is worse than the usual quality. The evidence of the two head sardars examined on behalf of the Company seems to me to represent the correct state of affairs. It appears that the quality of the yarn varied to some extent, but that this variation was usual. When complaints about quality was made there was an improvement in the quality. It is to the interest of the Company that the yarn should be of good quality. If the yarn be bad the finished product would be of poor quality. In a competitive market the sale of the finished product would also be affected. It is therefore very probable that the Company did not willingly allow the quality of the yarn to deteriorate. Complaints had no doubt been made for some time past about the quality of the yarn. Mr. Martin, the Manager, stated that some autocoyles were installed on the breaks and he had removed certain intermediate cards. The autocoyles arrived in December 1938, and the first autocoyle was fixed on 12th May 1939. It has been argued that the removal of intermediate cards might have led to defective carding. The deterioration of the quality of yarn might have been due to such defective carding. There is thus a possible reason for bad yarns. But whether it was actually the case is more than what we know. In view of the Government test reports, I would therefore hold that the yarn used in the mill was generally of satisfactory quality. It might have varied in quality at different times, but there is no evidence of any such abnormal deterioration in quality which by itself would justify a strike.

2. Alleged shortage of yarn.—The Company deny that there was any serious shortage of yarn though they admit that there has been a certain amount of delay in supplying the yarn. Mr. Martin, the Manager, admits that "there was a slight shortage of yarn at the beginning of the week when the strike occurred". But he goes on to say that on Monday he came to notice this shortage as he found ten to twenty men waiting for cops at the cops godown. He took steps to remove the causes which led to the shortage of the yarn, and he says that on Tuesday afternoon the number of men waiting for cops was reduced to from six to twelve and on Wednesday the situation became normal He also says that he received the complaints of the weavers about shortage of yarn on Tuesday through their sardars as also through Mr. Gibb. Steps had already been taken before receiving these complaints to improve the supply. The Manager also says that shortage of yarn is a common complaint and that there never was a strike for shortage of yarn even when the shortage was much more serious. He also gave some of the reasons for this temporary shortage of yarn. From the statement of Basir and Kedar Sardar, however, it would appear that the same shortage continued even on Wednesday. Kedar said that on Wednesday morning ten or twenve persons had to wait for cops for 5, 10 or 30 minutes. If this be a fact, and I see no reason to doubt it, things had not returned to normal even on Wednesday. In course of argument the learned advocate for the Company produced before me an extract from production book for the following three periods, viz.—

(i) 27th August 1938 to 1st October 1938 (before Mr. Martin came).

(ii) 15th October 1938 to 19th November 1938.

(iii) 8th April 1939 to 13th May 1939.

From the figures it would appear that weekly production of cops during the period 15th October 1938 to 5th November 1938 was more than that in the period before Mr. Martin joined as Manager. But during the same period there was a fall in the weekly production of cuts. From this fact the learned pleader argued that weekly production of cuts does not depend on the weekly production of cops. The low production of cuts in spite of more than standard production of cops, it is argued, goes rather to support the Manager's suspicion that the weavers had conspired to discredit him before the Company by continued low production and to have him removed. I quite agree with the learned pleader as to the first part of this argument, viz.,

that weekly production of cuts does not depend on the weekly production of cops. The weekly production of cuts depends on the supply of cops and the supply includes not only the weekly production of cops but also the previous stock of cops if any. It is the case of the weavers that the previous stock of cops had been exhausted and the weekly production of cops was not quite adequate for their demands. Kedar Sardar has supported this view when he said that shortage of yarns was due to the fact that the previous stock of cops had been exhausted and also because of the manufacture of sandbags. The statements filed on behalf of the Company are therefore misleading. If they wanted to prove that there was no shortage of cops they should have submitted a statement showing the total stock of cops during these weeks. But the Manager said that no such information was available. The deduction that the low production of cuts indicates some conspiracy on the part of the weavers cannot therefore stand scrutiny. This statement however is very important as it shows that the weekly production of cops fell for the weeks ending 12th November 1938 and 19th November 1938. The figures for the months of December, January, February and March are not however shown in the statement. The weekly production improved from the beginning of April and became normal again in the week ending 29th April 1939. But the weekly production of cops for the week ending 6th May 1939 and 13th May 1939 (immediately before the strike) had a big drop. We don't know what exactly was the stock during these months. But the Manager admits that at the time of the strike there was no surplus stock. It is therefore reasonable to assume that if there had been any surplus stocks that had been gradually used up during these months. The normal weekly production of cops was therefore either not quite adequate for the demands of the weaving department or it was just adequate to meet the demand. If the normal weekly production of cops was more than adequate for the demand a surplus stock could have accumulated. As there was no such surplus the normal weekly production of cops could not have been more than enough for the Weaving Department. That being the position whenever the weekly production of cops fell below normal there would be shortage of cops. This was so during the week ending 6th May 1939 and 13th May 1939. From the figures supplied therefore it would appear that there was shortage during the period immediately preceding the strike. The total number of cuts produced have been given in this statement, but their width has not been given. It has been argued that the number of cuts is not of any use. Different classes of the cloth had different width, and on behalf of the weavers much stress has been laid on this point. They argued that as the width had not been given it can't be said if the production in the Weaving Department was above or below normal. I don't however place much importance on this argument. I take it that the width is the same for the figures of all the weeks.

The Manager says that the shortage was temporary and was due to the fact that more yarn was being taken up for sandbags. Also there was admittedly a breakdown of three machines in the Spinning Department between the period from Saturday, the 13th, to Monday, the 15th May 1939. The Manager denied that there was any shortage on Friday and said that the slight shortage on Saturday was due to ordinary week-ending dislocation (machinery cleaning, etc.), and that it indicated nothing. The mill was then working 45 hours a week and perhaps the Manager made a mistake when he denied the shortage on Friday. If there was no work on Saturday the week-ending dislocation must have been on Friday. This is however a minor point and has a importance for the purpose of the present enquiry, though the representatives of the weavers wanted to make much of it. If the explanation of the shortage of yarn be as stated by the Manager it would appear that one of the causes of the shortage was not really temporary in nature. A breakdown of three spinning machines may be a temporary cause. But if the manufacture of sandbags was consuming more yarns and that was one reason of the shortage, I can't say that the shortage would be temporary. From the statements filed by the Company it appears that sandbags were being manufactured from February 1939. In February 117,000 sandbags were made, in March 380,000 and in April and May 540,000 were made. I was told that a considerable quantity of yarn is used for sewing sandbags and hence there was some shortage of yarn. This effect of the manufacture of sandbags must have been felt from February, and in April and May the shortage must have been quite appreciable. It does not appear that the management had taken any steps to increase the supply of the yarn. The weekly production of cops had fallen and on top of this there was the breakdown of three spinning machines. The result of all this was the shortage of yarn and consequent scramble for yarn near the cops godown.

Khan Sahib Altafuddin Khan said that the workers had at first only complained of the quality of the yarn. Mr. Martin then came and said that the workers had complained of shortage of yarn. The weavers then said that they had complained about the short supply as well as the bad quality of the yarn. From this it has been argued that neither of these complaints were genuine. From the discussion of the evidence there can be no doubt that there was a considerable shortage of yarn. The Manager and all the other witnesses for the Company say that the weavers had complained of short supply of yarn. It is not, therefore, clear why the weavers would tell a different story to Khan Sahib Altafuddin Khan. It seems there was some misunderstanding. The Khan Sahib also says that on the 17th evening Mr. Martin met him in his quarters and that Mr. Martin had then told him that the workers had gone on strike on the allegation that the yarn was bad and that at that time he did not say anything about the allegation of shortage of yarn. There must have been some mistake on the part of the Khan Sahib. It is most improbable that Mr. Martin had not told him about the allegation about the shortage of the yarn. This witness thus appears to contradict both the weavers and the Company. He has probably forgotten the incident and I place no reliance on this evidence.

I therefore conclude that there was a shortage of yarn and that there is no evidence to show that any steps had been taken by the management to increase the supply.

Causes of the strike.—Having discussed the two main allegations of the weavers I am now in a position to discuss the circumstances leading to and the causes of the strike. There was no doubt a shortage in the supply of yarn. As a result of this shortage the weavers had to wait for some time before the cops godown for the yarn. This class of people have not the training to stand in a queue in an orderly manner. Naturally there was a scramble for the yarn and the stronger among them managed to get the yarn earlier. The workers naturally did not like this state of affairs. It is probable that in course of the pushing and jostling Nagen received some injuries. This man looked much weaker than the other workers. Kedar also says that he saw some swelling on the face of Nagen. The weavers did not find that any steps were being taken by the mill authorities to increase the supply of the yarn. It is therefore probable that they decided that the only way of increasing the supply of yarn was to stop work for some time so that a surplus stock of cops may be accumulated. Apparently they were not intelligent enough to see that this course of action would affect the other departments up to the finishing stage. I do not think that they meant to go on strike for any length of time. This is clear from the fact that all of them turned up for work on Thursday morning. That they had communicated their decision to the management is admitted by Kedar, Basir, Mr. Gibb and Mr. Martin. Mr. Martin came to know of this decision on Wednesday forenoon and Mr. Gibb came to know of it on Tuesday morning. It is indeed very strange that although Mr. Martin and Mr. Gibb came to know of this intention nothing was done by either of them to convince the workers about the difficulties and persuade them to continue the work. Both Mr. Martin and Mr. Gibb merely told the weavers that this taking of a half holiday could not be allowed. Mr. Martin says he took much pains to explain the position to the weavers when they stopped work at 1-30 p.m. on Wednesday. It would have been far more prudent if such a step had been taken earlier. The weavers had already made up their mind and it is doubtful if they could even hear Mr. Martin when he spoke. Mr. Martin himself says that as the shafting was running all the weavers could not hear him and so he spoke to them at two places. Even then I doubt if they heard him. When I visited the mill I tried to speak to the weavers individually and it was with the greatest difficulty that I could make them hear me. The difficulty would be much greater when an attempt is made to speak to them collectively. Any way the weavers did not listen to his advice. The main reason for stopping the work (which is tantamount to going on strike) on 17th May is the genuine dissatisfaction among the weavers on account of shortage of yarn. The fact that the quality of the yarn was occasionally bad might have been a contributory cause, but I don't think that they had any serious grievance on this score.

The workers would not, I think, have stopped work so hastily, if there had been a well defined method of approaching to the manager and if the grievances had been properly enquired into and remedied.

The cause of the strike on the 18th is entirely a different one. That point is, however, outside the scope of the present enquiry. There is no question that the strike on the 18th was out of sympathy for the two dismissed men, Kallan Khan and Nagendra, who, the weavers thought, had been wrongly dismissed.

3. Dismissal of Kallan Khan and Nagendra.—It is next to be considered whether the summary dismissal of Kallan Khan and Nagendra was justified. On this point Mr. Martin has said that their dismissal was not summary as an enquiry had been held by him. From his statement it would appear that Mr. Courtney, Basir and Kedar had spoken against Nagendra and that Messrs. Watson, Courtney and Gibb as also Basir and Kedar had spoken against Kallan Khan. Basir and Kedar however did not say anything against either Kallan Khan or Nagendra. Their evidence rather goes to support the statement of the weavers. Mr. Martin had no personal knowledge about what Nagendra or Kallan Khan did, and he admitted in cross-examination that he did not question Basir and Kedar about Nagendra and Kallan Khan. Against Nagendra the only evidence therefore is that of Mr. Courtney and that against Kallan Khan is the evidence of Messrs. Watson, Gibb and Courtney.

Mr. Courtney says that on 17th May 1939 at 1-30 p.m. he was working in the Batching Department which is close to the Weaving Department. He found that some looms adjoining the Batching Department were working. They stopped work within about 5 minutes. He saw Nagendra waving his arms in a manner which showed that he wanted the men to stop work. When the men did not stop work Nagendra went round the looms and set all the handles forcibly to stop the looms. The men restarted the looms but Nagendra again went round the looms and stopped them once more. He cannot say whether anybody else in the Batching Department saw Nagendra setting off the handles. Among the 709 weavers Mr. Courtney says that he could name only five other weavers besides Kallan Khan and Nagendra, but he does not give any reason for knowing Nagendra and Kallan in particular. Mr. Martin had stated in his examination-in-chief that Nagendra was working in the earlier part, but in cross-examination he says he did not see Nagendra working. He has also said that they had nothing against Nagendra in the past. Nagendra himself denies any responsibility for the stoppage of the work and he says he came to know of the decision to stop work only at 1-30 p.m. when he was going to the looms. He saw everyone of the weavers coming away and he too came away. He was not cross-examined on this point. On behalf of the Company it has been made out that Kallan Khan and Nagendra were the leaders who organised this strike. If that is so it is not understood why Nagendra himself would be working at the earlier part. It is equally improbable that if Nagendra was a leader, men round about him would be working. If Nagendra had been waving his hands and stopping the looms it is also surprising that no other witness was available to prove this fact. Mr. Courtney admits that he knew only seven weavers out of a total of 709. It is therefore not improbable that he might have made a mistake about the identity of the men. Nagendra looks a weakling and if the other weavers who were working did not really want to stop work I doubt if they would have allowed such a man to shut down the looms. The evidence that has been adduced to prove the allegation against Nagendra seems to be very doubtful.

Against Kallan Khan Messrs. Gibb and Watson say that he was waving his hands and he told Mr. Watson "Ham Kal Bundh Karnay Ata—Bahar Lay Jata" (I have come to stop the mill and I am taking out the men). Kallan Khan denies having said so. He denies having had any talk with Mr. Watson. This obviously cannot be the truth. Even in the statement of the nature of dispute filed by Maulvi Shafaatullah Khan it is admitted that there was a conversation between

Mr. Watson and Kallan Khan and that Kallan Khan had said "Hamlog Kam Bundh Keya" (We the workers have stopped the work). Kedar and Basir, the two head sardars, said that Mr. Watson enquired of Kallan Khan if he had stopped the work. Kallan Khan denied having stopped the work. There was an altercation and Kallan Khan said "Ap Bolta Hai To Hami Bundh Keya" (If you say so, then I have stopped the work). Neither Mr. Gibb nor Mr. Watson says what was the occasion for Kallan Khan to tell Mr. Watson that he had come to stop the work and to take out the men. This statement obviously was made after Mr. Watson put some question to Kallan Khan. Mr. Watson admitted in cross-examination that he did not know Hindustani sufficiently well to know the difference between the interrogative, the affirmative and the exclamatory expressions. The learned counsel has said that the words "Ham Kal Bundh Karnay Ata, Bahar Lay Jata" might have been said by Kallan Khan to show his surprise at such an allegation. Anybody who knows the language will admit that such an interpretation is possible. The affirmative, the interrogative and the exclamatory statements would be the same, only they would be spoken in a different tone and manner. If a person cannot distinguish the tone and manner no value can be placed on his evidence. If Kallan Khan had really used the words by way of surprise it would mean something like this "Have I come to stop the mill?" "Am I taking the men out?" It would then be really tantamount to a denial of the allegations. Mr. Gibbs says that he remembers the exact words spoken by Kallan Khan, but he does not remember the exact words spoken either by Mr. Watson or by Mr. Martin, though he remembers the gist of what was said. He has not given any special reason for remembering the words spoken by Kallan Khan. The two sardars, who understand Hindustani, have not supported Messrs. Gibb and Watson. In the circumstances it is difficult to say whether there might not have been some misunderstanding. It seems hardly probable that any worker even in a moment of excitement would admit his responsibility for causing strike when he knows that he might be punished for this action. The other allegation against Kallan Khan is that in November 1938 he had been responsible for stopping the work. Mr. Martin says that on that occasion he had warned Kallan Khan. The circumstances of that stoppage of work are not known, and it is not clear whether Kallan Khan was really responsible for that stoppage. Mr. Courtney in his evidence says that Kallan Khan was responsible for that stoppage because he was waving his arms in a manner to show that the people should follow him. It is possible that Kallan Khan might have taken some leading part in that strike. Another allegation against Kallan Khan is that on one occasion in the past he had brandished a knife at Mr. Courtney. It appears that Kallan Khan had gone on leave and came back and wanted to join before the expiry of his leave. Mr. Courtney asked him to go out, but Kallan Khan pushed him out of the way. Mr. Courtney returned the push and then Kallan Khan brandished the knife in front of him. After that he was allowed to work. There is no other witness except Mr. Courtney to prove this allegation. He did not even report the fact at the time to anyone. Neither the mill sardars nor anybody else say anything on this point. The story if true would show a total lack of sense of discipline. A worker by threatening an overseer is allowed to have his own way. It is difficult to understand why Mr. Courtney allowed Kallan Khan to work after he had been threatened in this fashion. Both these incidents, however, refer to the past conduct of Kallan Khan. No doubt past conduct may and should be considered in assessing punishment. But if the principal allegation against him is not fully proved he cannot be punished only on account of his past conduct. If the allegation that he stopped the work on the 17th of May is not free from doubt, I do not think that his past conduct would be material for the purpose of this enquiry.

In this connection the subsequent conduct of Nagendra and Kallan Khan also deserves consideration. From the evidence of Khan Sahib S. A. E. B. Murshedi, the Assistant Labour Commissioner, it appears that the weavers were unwilling to resume work leaving behind two of their comrades whom they considered to have been unjustly dismissed. Khan Sahib Murshedi talked with Nagendra and Kallan Khan and asked them to advise the weavers to go back to work. Nagendra and Kallan Khan readily complied with his request. If Nagendra and Kallan Khan were really the leaders of the strike it is unlikely that the weavers would resume work without them. At the same time if Nagendra and Kallan were bent on creating trouble they would not have complied with the request of Mr. Murshedi. This circumstance can be explained only if it is believed that the workers had gone on strike on the 18th out of sympathy for Nagendra and Kallan Khan and not at their instigation. There is no allegation from the Company's side that Nagendra and Kallan Khan took any part in inciting the weavers to stop work on the morning of the 18th. The weavers stopped their work of their own accord. If Nagendra and Kallan had really organised strike on the 17th and if Kallan Khan had gone so far as to admit having done so, it is not understood why they did not try to stop the work on the 18th. Their conduct subsequent to the strike on the 17th seems therefore to be in their favour.

Even assuming that Kallan Khan and Nagendra had taken a leading part in stopping the work on the 17th, it is a matter for consideration whether they can be victimised for having done so. There is no evidence to show that the strike was organised under outside influence. From what I have found they stopped work on account of the genuine dissatisfaction for shortage of yarn. There was no properly organised union prepared to act constitutionally. The weavers had admittedly brought their grievance to the notice of the Manager through their sardars and the departmental overseer. As these representations have had no effect they decided to stop work. It is the weavers' case that all of them in a body decided to stop work. Even assuming that Kallan Khan and Nagendra suggested such stoppage of work and the other weavers followed their advice, I do not think that they should be penalised for this act. In all trade disputes unless there is a properly organised trade union, some of the workers must take a prominent part. When the grievance is genuine such workers ought not to be penalised. The punishment of dismissal therefore appears to me to have been unreasonably severe.

Mr. Martin has admitted that he gave no opportunities to Kallan Khan or Nagendra to explain their conduct. He did not even call for their explanation before dismissing them. I find that there are no rules about dismissals though I find a list of acts and omissions approved under section 8(1) for which fines may be imposed. It seems rather strange that although there are some rules about imposing fines there are no rules about dismissal. There ought to be some well defined rules for dismissals as well. On general principles dismissal should be as rare as possible and should be made for the gravest offences. Before dismissal a man should be given an opportunity of presenting his case and there should be a regular finding in which reasons for dismissal should be given. It is also desirable that before taking the extreme step of dismissing a worker he should be given an opportunity of rectifying his defects by warning, by fining and if necessary by suspension. On this occasion nothing like such a procedure was followed. Mr. Martin says that he made some enquiries from his overseer and he was convinced of the necessity of dismissing these men. He admits that he had nothing against Nagendra in the past and says that he had warned Kallan Khan once before. If a proper enquiry had been held by Mr. Martin and explanations taken from Nagendra and Kallan Khan, I doubt very much whether he would have found it necessary to dismiss them. From what I have seen I do not think that they have been rightly dismissed. If for the purpose of maintaining discipline it was thought that some punishment must be given, I think it would have been sufficient if they had been fined or suspended. But as I have already stated before, I do not think that the men should have been punished at all when there was a genuine grievance.

Next it has to be decided as to what compensation would be suitable if the men are not re-employed. From Mr. Martin's statement in answer to Court question it appears that there is no contract of employment with the labourers. The conditions of service are therefore not known. This is rather unsatisfactory. In my opinion there ought to be some well defined conditions of service laid down. In the absence of any such conditions of service, the question of compensation, if the men are not re-employed, will therefore have to be decided on general principles of equity. Both these men have put in quite a long time in the service of the Company. Having been discharged from a mill, managed by so well known a Company as Messrs. Andrew Yule & Co., Ltd., it is doubtful if they can find another job soon. In case of a discharge it is usual in most jobs to allow one month's wages for every year of service. These men are paid every week and their weekly wages are not constant. Their average weekly earning during a year prior to May 1939 may be determined, and I would recommend that if they are not re-employed they may be paid four weeks' wages for every year of service in the mill.

RESOLUTION No. 7273For.

Calcutta, the 20th July 1940.

It has been represented to Government that facilities for grazing cattle in the district of Chittagong are inadequate, and it has been suggested that portions of the protected forest which are situated near villages should be disafforested and made into village grazing grounds with free grazing facilities. The difficulty is to ensure that such grazing grounds would not rapidly deteriorate and become ineffective for the purpose for which they were intended. Government have, therefore, decided to appoint a Committee consisting of officials and non-officials to examine and advise upon the feasibility of the suggestion and on the best method of carrying it into effect.

2. The terms of reference of the Committee will be as follows:—

With a view to make available for the purpose of cattle grazing, the growing of fodder crops, or other suitable purposes parts of the protected forests of the Chittagong Collectorate containing no suitable forest produce which have been or are being disafforested;

(a) What policy should be adopted with regard to these lands, and other hilly areas in the khas mahal in order that the most productive use may be made of them for the benefit of the khas mahal tenants;

(b) In particular whether any part of such lands should be set aside for use as village grazing grounds and, if so, how they could be best preserved as such and their deterioration prevented;

(c) Whether such areas should be handed over to the management of local bodies and, if so, on what terms and conditions;

(d) What are the prospects of making use of portions of these lands for other purposes than grazing, such as the growing of fodder crops, or the cultivation of fruit, and what would be the best method of management for such purposes.

THE INDIA AND BURMA (EMERGENCY PROVISIONS) ACT, 1940.

(3 & 4 GEO. 6 CH. 33.)

CHAPTER 33.

An Act to make emergency provision with regard to the Government of India and Burma.

[27th June, 1940.]

Be it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Provisions as to India.

1.—(1) Any power of appointment to, or removal from, any office in India (including any power as to appointments to act temporarily in an office) being a power which, apart from the provisions of this section, would be exercisable by His Majesty, shall, during the period specified in section 3 of this Act, be exercisable also by the Governor-General:

Provided that the foregoing provisions of this sub-section shall not apply in relation to the office of Governor-General or the office of His Majesty's Representative for the exercise of the functions of the Crown in its relations with Indian States, but section 90 of the Government of India Act (which, as set out in the Ninth Schedule to the Government of India Act, 1935, provides for the temporary exercise of the powers of the Governor-General in the event of a vacancy in that office) shall apply in relation to any period during which the Governor-General is for any reason unable to perform the duties of his office as it applies in relation to the period mentioned in sub-section (1) of the said section 90.

(2) Any provision which, under the Government of India Act, 1935, could be made (a) by an Order in Council made in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 309 of that Act; or (b) by rules made by or with the sanction of the Secretary of State, may, during the period specified in section 3 of this Act, be made also by the Governor-General by notification in the Gazette of India; and any notification made under this sub-section may be varied or revoked by a subsequent notification made thereunder or in any other manner in which such Order in Council, or, as the case may be, such rules could be varied or revoked.

(3) Section 72 of the Government of India Act (which, as set out in the Ninth Schedule to the Government of India Act, 1935, confers on the Governor-General power to make Ordinances in case of emergency) shall, as respects Ordinances made during the period specified in section 3 of this Act, have effect as if the words: "for the space of not more than six months from its promulgation" were omitted; and notwithstanding the provision in the said section 72 that the power of making Ordinances thereunder is subject to the like restrictions as the power of the Indian Legislature to make laws—(a) Ordinances may, during the said period, be made under that section affecting the Army Act, Air Force Act, or Naval Discipline Act; and (b) section 111 of the Government of India Act, 1935 (which exempts certain British subjects from certain Indian laws) shall not apply to any Ordinance made under the said section 72 during that period.

(4) The functions of the Governor-General under this section shall be deemed for the purposes of the Government of India Act, 1935, to be included among the functions which he is, by or under that Act, required to exercise in his discretion, and so much of section 18A of the Interpretation Act, 1889, as provides that the expression "Governor-General" in relation to the period between the commencement of Part III of the Government of India Act, 1935, and the establishment of the Federation of India, means the Governor-General in Council shall not apply to this section.

Provisions as to Burma.

2.—(1) Any power of appointment to, or removal from, any office in Burma which, apart from the provisions of this section, would be exercisable by His Majesty, shall, during the period specified in section 3 of this Act, be exercisable also by the Governor:

Provided that this sub-section shall not apply in relation to the office of Governor.

(2) Any provision which, under the Government of Burma Act, 1935, could be made—(a) by an Order in Council made in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 157 of that Act: or (b) by rules made by the Secretary of State, may, during the period specified in section 3 of this Act, be made also by the Governor by notification in the official Gazette of Burma; and any notification made under this sub-section may be varied or revoked by a subsequent notification made thereunder, or in any other manner in which such an Order in Council, or, as the case may be, such rules, could be varied or revoked.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in Part IV of the Government of Burma Act, 1935, any Ordinance promulgated under section 42 of that Act during the period specified in section 3 of this Act and any Governor's Act made during that period may affect the Army Act, Air Force Act or the Naval Discipline Act, or any similar law enacted by competent authority in India; and section 44 of the Government of Burma Act, 1935 (which exempts certain British subjects from certain Burmese laws) shall not apply to any Ordinance under the said section 42 or to any Governor's Act promulgated or made during that period.

(4) The functions of the Governor under this section shall be deemed for the purposes of the Government of Burma Act, 1935, to be included among the functions which he is, by or under that Act, required to exercise in his discretion.

(5) The operation of sub-section (1) of section 9 of the Government of Burma Act, 1935 (which relates to the procedure to be followed as to the issue of Instructions by His Majesty) is hereby suspended during the period specified in section 3 of the this Act.

Period during which powers are available.

3. The period referred to in the preceding sections is the period beginning with the date of the passing of this Act and ending with such date as His Majesty may by Order in Council declare to be the end of the emergency which was the occasion of the passing of this Act.

References to be made to Secretary of State.

4.—(1) Without prejudice to the provisions of section 314 of the Government of India Act, 1935 and section 10 of the Government of Burma Act, 1935 (which provide for the control of the Secretary of State over the discretionary powers of the Governor-General of India and the Governor of Burma) the powers exercisable by virtue of this Act by the Governor-General of India and by the Governor of Burma shall not be exercised except on the direction of the Secretary of State:

Provided that the Governor-General or Governor as the case may be, may exercise any such powers without any such direction if, and only if, it appears to him that it is essential that the powers should be exercised and that a previous reference to the Secretary of State is likely to cause undue delay in the exercise thereof.

(2) The validity of anything done by the Governor-General or Governor shall not be called in question on the ground that it was done otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of this section.

Conditions.

1. The Divisional Forest Officer does not bind himself to accept the highest or any offer for any lot or to give any reason for such non-acceptance.

2. The sale of any lot, the value of which exceeds Rs. 5,000, shall not be complete until confirmed by the Conservator of Forests, Bengal.

3. The purchaser whose offer is accepted by the officer holding the sale must deposit earnest money of 10 per cent. of his offer for each lot and in the event of the sale being confirmed the earnest money will be retained against the security deposit. If two or more lots be taken by the same purchaser, the Divisional Forest Officer may relax this condition in such individual case and to such an extent as he deems fit, subject to the proviso that in any case the minimum earnest money payable is Rs. 300 or 10 per cent. whichever is less. In the event of the sale not being confirmed, the earnest money will be returned.

4. Security deposit of 10 per cent. of the purchase-price will be demanded within 10 days of the sale if paid in cash. If paid in any other form permissible under Government rules the deposit must be 15 per cent. of the purchase-price. In the event of the security deposit being less than the amount paid as earnest money, the difference between the security and earnest money will be credited towards the first instalment.

5. Failure to complete the payment of security deposit by the prescribed date will render the purchaser liable to the forfeiture of his earnest money and failure to execute the agreement within one month of receiving the same will render the purchaser liable to the forfeiture of the security deposit.

6. The lot or lots so affected shall be resold by public auction or tender at the discretion of the Divisional Forest Officer, and the purchaser shall be liable for any loss to Government on such resale.

7. Purchasers will be required to execute agreements in the printed form for outright sales (copies of which may be seen in the Divisional Forest Offices, Jalpaiguri, Buxa, Kurseong, Kalimpong and Darjeeling).

8. The following are among the conditions for "Clear Felling" lots :—

(a) Felling and extraction to be completed by 31st March 1941 and on no grounds can an extension be given after that date.

(b) The purchase-price to be paid in three approximately equal instalments on or before—

1st Instalment	.. ..	1st October 1940.
2nd „	.. ..	1st January 1941.
3rd „	.. ..	1st March 1941.

9. The following are among the conditions of the agreements for "Dry" and all other lots :—

(a) Felling and extraction to be completed by 31st December 1941.

(b) The purchase-price to be paid in five approximately equal instalments on or before—

1st Instalment	.. ..	1st October 1940.
2nd „	.. ..	1st January 1941.
3rd „	.. ..	1st April 1941.
4th „	.. ..	1st August 1941.
5th „	.. ..	1st November 1941.

10. All marked trees must be felled and all green sal trees must be barked.

11. In felling marked trees every reasonable precaution, such as lopping off branches, use of ropes and wedges, etc., must be taken to prevent damage to unmarked trees.

12. No timber shall be sawn in the forest unless salemarked before sawing, except in Clear Felling Coupes.

13. Advance sale marked may be given up to 80 per cent. of the value of passed logs and sawn timber in cases where delay in final payment is anticipated.

14. No timber may be removed from any coupe unless paid for in full and duly salemarked. Purchasers are allowed to remove only timber, duly salemarked and not any other forest produce. Issue of private permits by purchasers for fire-wood, etc., is strictly forbidden.

15. Species, measurements and numbers of trees are not guaranteed. But claims for shortage of trees or any discrepancy in species or measurements will be considered up to one month from date of confirmation of sale.

16. Under no circumstances will the security deposit be credited towards the last instalment.

17. The security will be released only after completion of stump checking and after all dues are fully settled.

18. Purchasers of the lots shown in the annexed Schedule must supply the Forest Department the number or quantity of passed logs or sawn timber or both, as the case may be, at the current prices and within the prescribed dates as detailed in the Schedule. These timbers will be first charged on the outturn of the respective lots. Note.—Since the 1st January 1929 the datum of all gauges has been finally altered to refer to the Bengal Public Works Department datum which is 6·25 feet reduced levels recorded since each gauge was established have been prepared.

*The zero of the Buxar gauge has been checked from the G. T. S. Bench marks Nos. 125 and 126 on line 70K and found to be 169·91 feet above the Bengal

†On and from 1st January 1931, high water level and low water level readings are shown at Swarupganj.

(A) The value of the zero of the gauge at the station was 5·04 feet from 1st to 25th May 1940 and 8·04 feet from 26th to 31st May 1940. Hence the average height

(B) The value of the zero of the gauge at the station was 31·45 feet from 1st to 6th May 1940 and 28·45 from 7th to 31st May 1940. Hence the average height

Resolution on the Report of the Director of Public Health, Bengal, for the year 1938.

Department of Public Health and Local Self-Government.

CALCUTTA, THE 23rd JULY 1940.

RESOLUTION—No. 1176P.H.

Read—

The Report of the Director of Public Health, Bengal, for the year 1938.

The outstanding incident during the year under review was the unusually serious flood which affected to a varying extent no less than 14 districts in the province. As an aftermath of the flood there was a severe epidemic of cholera. The Public Health Department, besides taking other necessary measures and rendering adequate assistance to the local authorities, took prompt action by deputing numerous anti-epidemic units which combined curative and preventive work. These units proved effective in preventing the epidemic of cholera, serious as it was, from assuming a more disastrous magnitude.

Vital Statistics.—There were 1,521,254 births registered in the year under review as against 1,707,050—a fall of 185,796. The birth rate was 30·48 per mille being 10·8 per cent. below the 1937 rate. 1,315,886 deaths were registered in 1938 as compared with 1,232,971 in the preceding year—an increase of 82,915, the death rate being 6·9 per cent. above that of the preceding year. Against the quinquennial average of 31·9, the birth rate in the year under review showed a decline of 4·4 per cent. and the death rate showed a rise of 10·4 per cent. as compared with the average of 23·9. The Director of Public Health has drawn attention to the simultaneous deterioration in respect of both births and deaths as a remarkably rare incident in the health record of the province, the last occasion on which a similar event occurred being 1918, the year of the Influenza epidemic. The total number of births exceeded the total number of deaths by 205,368 as against an excess of 474,079 in the previous year. Pabna and Calcutta were the two districts in which deaths exceeded births.

The birth rate in Bengal was lower than in all other provinces, except Assam and Sind. The mortality rate was also higher than in all other provinces, with the exception of Bombay, the Punjab, the Central Provinces and Orissa. The highest birth rate was recorded in the districts of Darjeeling (38·3) and Murshidabad (37·6) while Khulna recorded the lowest birth rate (24·1). The highest death rate was recorded in the district of Darjeeling and the lowest in Khulna. The proportion of male births in every 100 female births was 107 against 108 in 1937.

The system of recording vital statistics in this province is not a completely satisfactory one and the margin of inaccuracy which undoubtedly exists cannot be gauged. This limitation should be borne in mind in regard to any statistical review based on the available figures.

Infantile and maternal mortality.—The aggregate number of infantile deaths in 1938 was 280,923 against 300,770 in 1937. The infant mortality rate per thousand births rose to 184·7 from 176·2 in 1937. 55 per cent. of the total deaths were recorded among infants under one month, 29 per cent. among those between one and six months and 16 per cent. among infants between 6 and 12 months of age. The rate of child mortality in Bengal was higher than in any other province, except the Central Provinces, Orissa and Burma. The number of still births has also been steadily on the increase from year to year. In the year under review the rate stood at 4·7 for every hundred live births; in other words, out of every 22 births one was a still birth. The deaths recorded from maternal causes numbered 17,438. Apart from the possibly large margin of inaccuracy in recording this class of deaths, there must have been many deaths associated with, but not ascribed to, child birth for which there is no provision for registration. The usual annual grants to local bodies for training of indigenous dāis were made by Government. Provision was also made for training of pupil nurses and dāis in State and private hospitals. Suitable recurring contributions were also given to maternal and child welfare centres and for holding health welfare weeks. The Red Cross Society continued to do excellent work in this connection. The maternity and child welfare services fall primarily within the responsibility of the local authorities, but this work has not received in the past the attention that it deserves. Since the close of the year under review, Government have adopted a scheme for making liberal grants-in-aid towards establishment and maintenance of welfare centres and clinics throughout the province. Improvement of nursing is also receiving attention.

General epidemiology—Cholera.—There were 71,133 deaths from cholera in the year under review against 32,710 in the preceding year, showing an increase of 100 per cent. The death rate 1·4 was 40 per cent. more than the average of the preceding quinquennium. Cholera accounted for 5·4 per cent of the total provincial deaths in the year under review. The marked decrease in the incidence of cholera in 1937 appears to indicate a turning point in control as a result of extensive anti-cholera measures. The severe flood in 1938, an unforeseen event, inevitably worsened the position although adequate and organised measures were effective in controlling the epidemic as far as possible.

The highest death rate, viz., 4·9, was recorded in Pabna. Mymensingh and Dacca come next with a rate of 2·5 and Howrah, Faridpur and Tippera with 2·2. Bakarganj, which topped the list of death rate in previous years, returned a death rate of 2·1. The district of Darjeeling continued, as usual, to be free from cholera. There were 67,771 deaths in the rural areas with a rate of 1·5 per mille, against ·7 in 1937. The towns recorded 3,362 deaths with a rate of 1·0 against ·5 in the preceding year. The incidence of mortality from this disease was higher than in any other province except the Central Provinces, Assam and the United Provinces.

Cholera-preventive measures.—All approved anti-cholera measures were adopted in combating this disease. The quantity of cholera vaccine issued and the number of inoculations showed, for obvious reasons, a large increase Other preventive measures included disinfection of sources of water-supply and of infected dwellings, provision of facilities for inoculation of pilgrims, extensive public health propaganda through the district health units and the divisional publicity staff now in charge of the Director of Public Information, as well as promulgation of temporary regulations under the Epidemic Diseases Act in affected areas. During the year under review the Public Health Department adopted a new method of combating cholera epidemics by organising a large number of medical and sanitary units combining preventive and curative work, each unit consisting of a medical licentiate, a compounder, a medicine carrier and a Sanitary Inspector. The work of these units met with enthusiastic appreciation from the public. Assistance was also rendered to the local authorities by lending services of medical officers and sanitary inspectors as soon as calls for help were received. The prompt and organised action initiated by the Public Health Department prevented the local cholera epidemics caused by the floods from assuming the magnitude of a provincial calamity.

Small-pox.—Small-pax was responsible for 9,289 deaths against 27,944 in 1937, the death rate in the year under review being of ·2 per mille against ·C in 1937. There was thus a decrease of 66·7 per cent. in mortality as compared with the figures of the previous year and of 50 per cent. as compared with the average of the preceding quinquennium. This disease accounted for ·7 per cent. of the total provincial mortality in 1938. The death rate from small-pox during the year under review was higher than the death rates in Orissa, N. W. F. Province, Assam, Sind, Bombay and the Punjab but lower than those in the other provinces.

Of the total number of deaths from small-pox, 530 occurred among infants below one year of age and 1,183 among children between ages of 1 to 10 years, against 2,414 and 7,452 respectively in 1937. 5 7 per cent. of the total mortality occurred among infants and 12 7 per cent. among children against 8·6 per cent. and 26 7 per cent. respectively in 1937.

Calcutta accounted for 2,193 out of the total deaths from small-pox numbering 2,654, in the towns. Its death rate (1·92) exceeded that of the previous year (·35) by no less than 448·6 per cent. and that of the previous decade by 41·1 per cent. Outside Calcutta, the district of Chittagong returned the highest death rate (·41) while Jalpaiguri, with the same rate as in previous year (·002), was the least affected. In the urban areas, however, mortality from this disease showed an increase of no less than 75 per cent. while the death rate in the rural areas declined by 83·3 per cent.

The number of persons vaccinated during the year under report was 7,843,545 against 8,595,618 in 1937. The decrease was due to the decreased incidence of small-pox and to the continued public apathy to vaccination except in times of actual epidemics.

In a country and a province where the provision for compulsory isolation is outside the range of practical consideration and where the sanitary consciousness and responsibility of the individual is not developed among the mass of the people, vaccination is the only effective preventive against outbreaks. Although primary vaccination is compulsory throughout the province it is well-known that a large number of children escape primary vaccination and consequently remain unprotected. The responsibility for effectively enforcing primary vaccination lies with the local authorities. Government would again impress upon the local authorities the urgent necessity of organising an intensive campaign of vaccination according to a fixed programme spread over a limited number of years so as to cover effectively the population of the whole district.

The total cost of vaccination in 1938 was Rs. 4,58,503 against Rs. 4,87,387 in the previous year. The average cost of each successful vaccination in the whole presidency was one anna and ten pies, i.e., 1½ pies more than that of the previous year. The average cost of manufacture of vaccine lymph per dose of half a grain which amounted to 0·6 pie only against ·5 of the previous year, compares very favourably with the cost of manufacture in other provinces in India.

Fevers—Malaria and Kala-azar.— Fevers took a heavier toll of lives in 1938 than in the previous year. The number of deaths recorded under "Fevers" was 819,763 against 775,586 in 1937. The death rate was 16·4 per mille against 15·5 per mille in the previous year, an increase of 8·6 per cent. on the last quinquennial average. The progressive rise in fever mortality from year to year, due mainly to the scourge of malaria, is the outstanding public health problem of this province.

Malaria.—There were 416,521 deaths registered during the year, representing an increase of 43,529 over the figures of the previous year with a death rate of 8·3 as against 7·5 in 1937. It accounted for 50·8 per cent. of the total fever mortality and 31·6 per cent. of the total provincial mortality during the year under report against 48·1 and 30·2 per cent. respectively in the preceding year. Slightly over 98 per cent. of the total fever mortality in 1938 occurred in the rural areas. Rajshahi, topped the list, as in the previous year, with a death rate of 19·0 per mille against 18·8 in 1937. Nadia, with 17·7 against 15·5 per mille in 1937, came next while Calcutta, with 0·7 per mille, recorded the lowest rate. Fever indices, however, indicated that the district of Burdwan had the largest incidence. Compared with the preceding year, there was larger incidence of malaria in 19 districts.

Kala-azar.—The incidence of kala-azar has been slowly but steadily on the increase. There were 21,642 deaths from this disease representing a death rate of ·43 as against 21,227 and ·42 respectively in 1937. The number of deaths in the rural areas increased by 279 from that of the preceding year. As in 1937, the Kurseong town registered the highest death rate of 5·0 per mille. There was a noticeable decline in the total kala-azar cases recorded for treatment in hospitals in the districts of Burdwan, Midnapore Rajshahi, Jalpaiguri and Darjeeling. The special anti-kala-azar campaign which had been started in the Darjeeling district about the middle of December 1937, was continued throughout the year under report with 19 treatment centres and 2 undieted shelters operating under 10 medical officers. Particular stress was laid on propaganda work with a view to inducing the illiterate patients in the interior to visit the treatment centres regularly till completely cured. The district board carried out the campaign under the supervision of the Public Health Department and provided accommodation for treatment centres and other facilities.

Special anti-malaria measures.—The comprehensive malaria survey which was started in 1937 in typical areas was continued during 1938. A mosquito and malaria survey of the Jessore town and its neighbourhood was carried out during 1938 for the purpose of preparing an anti-malaria scheme on a five-year plan for Jessore and its adjoining rural areas financed jointly by the Indian Research Fund Association and the Provincial Government which has been undertaken after the close of the year under review.

The survey and control measures in connection with the campaign against anopheles ludlowii were carried out satisfactorily in the Salt Lake area, Budge Budge and the suburban areas with the co-operation of the Corporation of Calcutta and other local authorities and interests concerned.

Respiratory diseases.—The number of deaths attributed to respiratory diseases of all forms was 99,763 in 1938 as against 96,986 in the preceding year, representing 2·00 per mille against 1·94. All the districts of Bengal returned increased rates in comparison with the previous decade. As usual, Calcutta recorded the highest death rate (9·2) followed by Jalpaiguri (5·3), Hooghly (4·5), Darjeeling (4·4) and Howrah (4·0). Malda continued to record the lowest death rate (·4 per mille).

Pneumonia.—There were 52,258 deaths compared to 48,927 in 1937. The decline in the death rate in 1937 was not maintained, and mortality was higher by 7·1 per cent. than in the preceding year. As usual, Jalpaiguri recorded the highest rate (4·1) followed by Hooghly (3·1) and Darjeeling (2·3). Malda recorded the lowest rate (·17).

Pulmonary tuberculosis.—The total number of deaths was the same (14,668) as in the previous year with the same death rate (·29 per mille) —an unusual coincidence. The highest death rate (4·1) was reported from South Dum Dum, followed by Darjeeling (3·3). Kurseong which, registered a rate of 3·0 in 1937, recorded no deaths from this disease during the year under report. Prima facie, this would appear to indicate a serious inaccuracy in reporting and the matter is being investigated. The Bengal Tuberculosis Association carried on valuable propaganda work in the province with the usual grant from Government. This Association trained a number of tuberculosis workers and home visitors during the year.

Other diseases.—Influenza accounted for 2,143 deaths against 2,422 in the preceding year. Cerebrospinal fever took a toll of 1,337 lives in 1938 against 938 in the preceding year. The increase occurred wholly in the rural areas, the death rate from this disease having risen by nearly 100 per cent. The ravages of this fever have been on the increase from year to year. In 1937, the mortality from typhus fever was about double the number of the previous year; in 1938, again deaths from this disease numbered nearly twice those of 1937. In the rural areas alone, the death rate rose by 33·3 per cent. above that of the previous year. There was an all-round increase in the death rate from enteric fever in 1938, the rate being 20 per mille against ·18 in 1937 for the whole province. Dysentery and diarrhoea were responsible for a toll of 37,966 and 31,266 deaths respectively, representing an aggregate death rate of 1·4 per mille against 1·1 per mille in the previous year, and 5·3 per cent. of the total provincial mortality against 4·6 in 1937.

Leprosy.—The number of recorded deaths from leprosy was 1,316 against 934 in the preceding year. The incidence of this disease was higher in 12 districts of the province than in the other districts.

Fairs and festivals.—The Director of Public Health has given an interesting account of the medical and sanitary arrangements made by the local authorities concerned, in co-operation with and under the guidance of the Public Health Department, for the welfare of the pilgrims and the prevention of outbreaks of infectious diseases in the Ganga Sagar and Nagalband melas which were attended by a larger number of pilgrims than in the previous year. The anti-cholera work carried out by the St. John Ambulance Association at the embarkation ground at Ganga Sagar Mela was highly appreciated by the pilgrims. There was only one death from dysentery at Ganga Sagar and only one case of cholera on the way to Diamond Harbour which proved fatal. At the Nagalband mela ground there were two deaths from cholera, one from dysentery and one from heart failure.

Sanitation and water-supply.—Rs. 54,09,142 or 37·5 per cent. of the total receipts inclusive of the opening balance was spent by municipal bodies in Bengal on sanitary works during the financial year 1937-38, showing a decrease of 1·9 per cent. compared with the expenditure of the previous financial year. The average expenditure per head of the municipal population rose from Rs. 2-1-8 in 1936-37 to Rs. 2-4-9 in 1937-38. The total municipal expenditure on sanitation in the year under review included Rs. 24,84,783 on conservancy, Rs. 14,65,984 on water-supply and Rs. 4,48,294 on drainage. The proportion of total expenditure of the district boards on water-supply to their total receipts was the same as in the previous year, viz., 3·8 per cent. whereas the proportion with regard to sanitation indicated an upward trend, being 8·5 per cent. against 7·9 in the preceding year.

The union boards spent Rs. 52,21,210 in carrying out the various works of public utility contemplated by the Village Self-Government Act. A total sum of Rs. 9,94,567 was devoted to water-supply, Rs. 96,708 to drainage and Rs. 83,816 to conservancy.

During the year under review, Government made substantially increased grants towards water-supply for drinking purposes in the rural areas. A revised policy for the improvement of water-supply in the rural areas of the province was introduced during the year under report. Under this policy local water-supply committees at the headquarters of districts subdivisions and thanas were set up for drawing up a programme of works according to the real needs of particular areas and localities. It was also laid down that exemptions in respect of local contribution should be granted very liberally, so that the poorer areas may participate in the programme.

School Hygiene.—The school health services which are in existence in Calcutta and the municipal and rural areas are far from adequate and the matter has been receiving the attention of Government. During the year under review a scheme for medical inspection in all high schools in the province was approved by Government in the Education Department. Since the close of the year, Government have approved the proposal of reviving the School Hygiene Division under the Public Health Department for the systematic inspection of schools and the medical inspection of schools children.

Health propaganda.—Health publicity work was carried out throughout the province on the usual lines by the publicity staff, with a view to improving the health consciousness of the people. Ten touring parties worked throughout the province while 2 were stationed in Calcutta. A new film on the interesting subject of "Woman's Role in National Health" was prepared during the year. The Government exhibition van gave 99 demonstrations in the various districts and the work was greatly appreciated by the public.

Miscellaneous.—While the usual activities of the Public Health Department were maintained at a normal level, during the year under review, certain small advances were made in a few directions and further advances were under the anxious consideration of Government. Grants-in-aid on the usual scale were made to local bodies and voluntary associations in order to enable them to make provision for health welfare services. Besides making the usual contributions towards the salaries of the health officers employed by the local bodies, Government incurred an expenditure of Rs. 11,79,500 in assisting the district boards to maintain the thana public health units in the rural areas. An increased grant of Rs. 7½ lakhs from provincial revenues and of Rs. 3,41,000 from the Government of India's second subvention for rural uplift was distributed among the districts in the Province for the improvement of the sources of water-supply for drinking purposes in the rural areas. An allotment of Rs. 37,500 was also made out of the Central Government's grant for schemes for the improvement of rural sanitation such as, jungle cutting, doba filling, drainage, etc. Other subsidies to local bodies included Rs. 80,000 for combating kala-azar, Rs. 50,000 for free vaccination, Rs. 59,000 for anti-malarial works and an increased grant of Rs. 4,00,000 for the free distribution of quinine. A grant of Rs. 10,000 was made to the Tuberculosis Association and the Bengal Branch of British Empire Leprosy Relief Association received a subsidy of Rs. 10,000 for anti-leprosy propaganda work. The prompt and organised action taken by the Public Health Department in combating the epidemics which followed in the wake of the floods has been mentioned elsewhere in the report.

General Remarks.—The year 1938 was not a good year for public health. The general death rate increased, while the birth rate fell. The death rate of infants as well as the maternal mortality rate continued to be obstinately high. During the year under review Government took up the consideration of the improvement of the services which aimed at creating healthy environments and of those directed to the prevention and cure of epidemic diseases and the protection of mothers and children as well as of the solution of the problem of water-supply in the rural areas for drinking purposes within as short a time as possible by a comprehensive programme. A scheme was framed for reorganisation of the basic rural health services. Schemes were also prepared for solution of the problem of child and maternal mortality and morbidity and for control of the chief diseases, such as malaria, tuberculosis and leprosy. The Minister of Health has, on more than one occasion, made full statements of the programme which he has set before him in improving the health of the people. The Minister trusts that the local bodies, foreign associations as well as the public in general will render unstinted support and co-operation so that the various problems may be effectively solved without delay.

Personal.—Lt.-Col. Chatterjee, I.M.S., held the office of Director of Public Health throughout the year. Government desire to place on record their special appreciation of the enthusiasm, initiative and organising ability displayed by Col. Chatterjee in administering the department during the year under review.

I am directed to convey the sanction of Government to the creation of a trust fund to be called "the Bimala Churn Law Free-studentships" in the Bethune College, Calcutta, with 3½ per cent. Government Promissory Notes as detailed below of the face value of Rs. 6,300, presented by Dr. Bimala Churn Law, M.A., B.L., PH.D., of 43, Kailas Bose Street, Calcutta, for creating two free-studentships in the above institution on the conditions set forth in the attached statement:—

No. 260868 for Rs. 1,000
No. CA006254 for Rs 100
No. CA006255 for Rs. 100
No. CA006256 for Rs. 100
No. CA006257 for Rs. 5,000

Total Rs. 6,300

The donor has endorsed the Government Promissory Notes in favour of the Manager, Reserve Bank of India, Calcutta, and has deposited them with that officer.

The Principal of the College who will be the administrator of the fund will draw the interest regularly, open a post office savings bank account, deposit therein the income of the fund and credit to Government the amount payable by the holder of the free-studentships.

The Manager, Reserve Bank of India, Calcutta, has been informed.

Condition.

1. The donor or his heir or heirs shall have the right to nominate for admission into the Bethune College two poor female students who are, under the rules of the College, eligible for admission in the ordinary way. If necessary, the donor or his heir or heirs shall have the right to ask from the Principal a list of poor and meritorious students admitted by her with remarks as to the financial condition of the parents or guardians of those students so that the donor or his heir or heirs may be in a position to make his or their own selection among the students so admitted and inform the Principal accordingly. If in any year, a deserving candidate is not available, no nomination for the free-studentships should be made for the year and the interest on the donation should continue to accumulate and should be utilised in future in awarding more than two free-studentships, if funds permit, subject to the approval of the donor or his heir or heirs. The Trust Fund should be called "Bimala Churn Law Free-studentships Fund". The Principal of the College should be the administrator of the Fund, who will draw interest on the notes regularly, open a post office savings bank account, deposit therein the income of the Fund and credit to Government the amount payable by the holders of the free-studentships.

2. The donor or his heir or heirs shall have the right to cancel the nomination of the candidate who has failed to pass any examination and to nominate a new candidate who may be found deserving of such free-studentships. The free-studentships shall entitle the holders thereof to exemption from payment of admission fee, tuition fee, examination fee, common-room fee, magazine fee, bus fee and college union fee, but the exemption should be operative to the extent of the amount available as the net income of the fund.

3. These free-studentships should be named as "BIMALA CHURN LAW FREE-STUDENTSHIPS" and are open to all female students without any distinction of caste and creed.

4. The Principal of the College shall furnish the donor or his heir or heirs with an annual report of the progress of study of the students concerned and the donor or his heir or heirs shall intimate to the Principal his or their intention of allowing the candidates to continue to hold the free-studentships, if the progress report be found satisfactory. In the event of the progress report being found unsatisfactory, the right of the donor or his heir or heirs shall be limited to withdrawing the free-studentships, but shall not extend to prohibiting the holders of the free-studentships from prosecuting their studies.

5. These free-studentships shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette, in the prospectus issued by the Bethune College, Calcutta.

6. The said two free-studentships shall be awarded for one year in the first instance, and will be continued unless for unsatisfactory progress or otherwise the concession is withdrawn. No free-studentship will be awarded while two are already in existence or until sufficient surplus is available for the creation of additional free-studentships.

7. If a student or students selected for a free-studentship or free-studentships is or are a boarder or boarders of the hostel attached to the College, she or they will be entitled to the amount set apart for the bus fee and this amount shall be deducted from the hostel charges incurred by her or them and the balance of the hostel charges shall be borne by her or them.

8. After the death of the donor, his heir or if there be more than one heir, the eldest heir shall have the right to nominate free-students. If no nomination is received from the heir or heirs of the donor within a month from the date of intimation by the administrator, the administrator shall have the right to nominate a candidate or candidates for free-studentship or free-studentships. Necessary reminder should be sent to the heir or heirs within the said period. Due precaution should be taken to ensure safe delivery of the intimation to the heir or heirs of the donor.

Calcutta, the 23rd July 1940.

It is ordered by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal that with effect from the 1st August 1940, the following rules and forms be substituted in lieu of the existing rules in Chapter XXI and the forms in Appendix F of the rules of the High Court, Original Side, 1914 (4th Edition):—

CHAPTER XXI

Receivers.

1. The provisions of Chapter XX shall, with such changes as may be necessary, apply to applications and orders for appointment of interim receivers.

2. Application for the appointment of a receiver of property, the subject-matter of a suit, shall be made to the Court. In other causes, a receiver may be appointed by a Judge where the matter is one usually dealt with in Chambers.

3. The party obtaining the order of appointment shall, within one week from the filing of the order, file an office copy thereof in the Account Department of the Registrar's office; whereupon an entry shall be made in a register, to be kept for the purpose, of the contents of such order and the particulars of the name of such receiver, and conditions, if any, under which he has been appointed, and the dates on which he is required by the order to file his accounts.

4. Where an order is made directing a receiver (other than the Official Receiver) to be appointed, the person so appointed shall, unless otherwise ordered, first furnish security to the satisfaction of the Registrar, to account at such time, and in respect of such period as may be directed for all that shall come into his possession as such receiver, and to pay the same as the Court or a JUDGE shall direct. In the event of security being furnished by the execution of a Bond with a Guarantee Society as the surety, the Bond shall be in Form No. 3, Appendix F.

5. In every order directing the appointment of a receiver of immoveable property, there shall, unless otherwise ordered, be inserted the following directions:—

(a) that the receiver shall have all the powers provided for in O. XL, r. 1 (d) of the Code, except that he shall not, without the leave of the Court, (1) grant leases for a term exceeding three years, or (2) bring suits except suits for rent or ejectment where the rents are in arrears for more than two months, or (3) institute an appeal in any Court (except from a decree in a rent suit or ejectment suit) where the value of appeal is over Rs.1,000, or (4) expend on the repairs of any property in any period of two years, more than half of the net annual rental of the property to be repaired, such rental being calculated at the amount at which the property to be repaired would let when in a fair state of repair less outgoings in respect of municipal taxes, either owner's or occupier's share or both shares, revenue, cess, ground or other rents and proportionate collection charges, if any, payable in respect of the property; and

(b) that the receiver shall have power to expend on the repair of any property of such nature as would not ordinarily be let, such amount as may be decided on at a meeting convened in his office after service of notice to the parties, if appearing in person, or their attorneys, as the case may be and, in the event of there being any disagreement between the receiver and the parties or their attorneys or any of them, the receiver shall apply to the Judge for directions on notice to the parties, the costs of such application being in the discretion of the Judge.

6. A receiver, other than the Official Receiver, shall be allowed such remuneration as the Court or a Judge shall direct. A receiver may, in special cases, be allowed the necessary expenses of management.

7. The order appointing a receiver shall be in Form No. 1, or as the Court or a Judge may direct.

8. The establishment, clerical or otherwise, required by a receiver and the cost thereof chargeable to the estate or property of which he is appointed receiver, shall, if possible, be detailed in the order.

9. A receiver shall, normally, not be allowed to make any charge on account of establishment, but if the receiver is of opinion that it is necessary in the interests of an estate that he should engage durwans, sircars, or other servants he shall be at liberty to do so, but in that event he shall within seven days of any such engagement give notice to the attorneys for the parties, or to the parties themselves if appearing in person, that such engagements have been made. The notice shall contain the names of each and every servant so engaged and the purpose, and the terms, of his or their engagement. The receiver shall with such notice include notice of a meeting to be held at his office (not later than 14 days from the date of the notice) when the question of the engagement of the servant or servants will be discussed.

10. If at the meeting convened in accordance with the last mentioned rule it shall be decided that the employment of such servant or servants is unnecessary, the receiver shall forthwith dispense with the services of the servant or servants so engaged. In the event of there being any disagreement between the receiver and the parties, or should any party object to the engagement of the said servant or servants, or any of them and the receiver should still be of the opinion that the retention of the servant or servants is necessary in the interests of the estate, the receiver shall forthwith make an application to the Judge on notice, to the parties for permission to employ such servant or servants.

11. At the hearing of the said application the Judge shall determine whether the engagement of such servant or servants is necessary and should the Judge be of the opinion that the objection to the same has been made on insufficient grounds, the Judge may direct that the party so objecting shall bear the costs of the application.

12. In the event of no objection being made to the employment of the servant or servants so engaged as aforesaid, the receiver shall prepare a statement for submission to the Judge setting out the particulars mentioned in rule 9 and such statement shall be submitted through the Registrar to the Senior Judge sitting on the Original Side for his confirmation of the engagement of the servant or servants.

13. A receiver shall be entitled to pay out of the estate the wages and other expenses of, and incidental to, the engagement of the servant or servants, and also the costs of any application which may be made to the Judge, unless the Judge is of the opinion that the engagement of such servant or servants has been unreasonable, in which case the Judge may direct that the receiver shall personally bear such costs as have been incurred and the wages of the servant or servants engaged by him.

14. An application for directions relating to the management and disposal of property in the possession of a receiver may be made by him, where such directions have been agreed to between him and the parties if appearing in person, or their attorneys, as the case may be, at a meeting convened by him, by a letter addressed to the Registrar stating full particulars and annexing thereto a copy of the minutes of such meeting certified to be a true copy by him under his hand. Upon receipt of such letter, the Registrar shall submit the same to the Judge, who may make such orders thereon as to him shall seem fit, or may direct an application to be made in Chambers on notice to the parties. In the event of there being any disagreement between the receiver and the parties or their attorneys, or any of them with regard to such directions, an application shall be made by the receiver to the Judge on notice to the parties.

15. Every order appointing a receiver shall, unless otherwise ordered contain a direction that the receiver do file and submit for passing half-yearly accounts in the office of the Registrar. Such accounts shall be made out as at the end of the months of June and December in every year, and shall be filed during the months of July and January respectively. In the event of it appearing to the Court or the Judge that annual accounts would be sufficient, the Court or the Judge may direct that the receiver shall file annual accounts only which shall be made up to the 31st day of December in every year and be filed in the succeeding month of January.

16. In the event of a receiver being appointed of any zemindary or other property in the mofussil, the receiver shall be responsible only to the extent of the sum or sums of money actually received by him. The receiver shall only be entitled to charge his commission on the sum or sums so received by him. Nothing herein contained shall be construed as exempting the receiver from being sued or proceeded against in respect of claims for loss or damage to the estate arising from negligence on the part of the receiver, or failure on his part to collect or recover assets, which by the exercise of due care and attention, ought to have been recovered.

17. Unless otherwise ordered every such account shall show what the balance in hand is, whether any, and if any, what portion thereof is required for the purposes of the estate, and how much may be paid into Court, and shall be filed in the Account Department of the Registrar's office, together with an affidavit verifying the same in Form No. 2.

18. Every such account, before being submitted to the Judge, shall be examined and vouched by such officer, ordinarily one of the Assistant Registrars of the Court, as the Registrar may either generally from time to time, or particularly with reference to a particular estate or account, appoint for that purpose. Such officer shall have all the powers of officers of the Court to whom references are made, and may require the attendance of the receiver or his explanations, or his evidence upon oath or affirmation, or the production of any document by him, and shall embody the result of his examination in a certificate.

19. After the officer shall have completed his examination under the last rule, he shall obtain an appointment from the Judge in Chambers for passing such accounts, of which appointment, notice shall be given to the parties and to the receiver.

20. Objections to an account shall be filed in the Account Department of the Registrar's office, one week before the day fixed for the passing of the accounts, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Judge. They shall contain in a concise form the nature of the objections, and shall be signed and verified in the form prescribed for the signing and verification of pleadings.

21. Where no objections are filed, or taken by the examining officer, the Judge shall, where otherwise satisfied, pass such accounts. Where objections are filed or taken by the examining officer, the Judge, upon hearing such objections, shall make such order as may be proper.

22. The Judge, on the passing of the accounts, may make such order as to the payment of the balance, appearing due on the accounts, or any part thereof, either into Court, or in such other manner as may seem proper.

23. The Judge may, from time to time, adjourn the hearing of any objections, or may either hear such objections or refer them to an officer of the Court or to any other person, with such directions as may to the Judge seem fit.

24. Where any receiver shall neglect to file his accounts, or to pass the same, or to pay the balance or any part thereof as ordered, the matter shall be reported by the officer mentioned in rule 18 to the Registrar, who may of his own motion, or shall, on the application of any of the parties interested, certify to the Judge such neglect, and the Judge may, from time to time, when the accounts of such receiver are produced to be examined and passed, not only disallow the remuneration therein claimed by such receiver, but also charge him with interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum upon the balance, if any, so neglected to be paid by him during the time the same shall appear to have remained in the hands of such receiver.

25. Where any receiver fails to file any account or affidavit, or to pass such account, or to make any payment, or otherwise the receiver or the parties, or any of them may be required by notice to attend before the Judge to show cause why such account or affidavit has not been left, or such account passed, or such payment made, or any other proper proceeding taken, and thereupon such directions as shall be proper may be given including the discharge of any receiver and appointment of another and payment of costs.

26. Rules 15 and 17 to 25 shall apply to a manager or guardian of the estate of a minor, and a manager of the property of a lunatic appointed by the Court.

27. Where any estate or share of an estate situate outside Calcutta has been sold by a receiver, such sale shall be notified by such receiver to the Collector of the district in which such estate or share of estate is situated.

28. The forms to which reference is made in this chapter are those in Appendix F.

NOTICE.

A competitive examination for direct appointment to the Bengal Civil Service (Executive), and the Bengal Junior Civil Service will be held in Calcutta in February 1941 in accordance with Rule IX of the Bengal Provincial Services Recruitment Rules, published in notification No. 7183A., dated the 22nd May 1930.

2. Vacancies.—Vacancies in the following services will be filled on the result of this examination :—

Bengal Civil Service (Executive).
Bengal Junior Civil Service.
Bengal Police Service.
Upper Division Secretariat Clerical Service.

The number of vacancies in each service will be announced later.

Each candidate will be required to specify in his application the service or services for which he desires to compete, placing them in the order of his preference, and the choice thus indicated will be final. Candidates will not be allowed to alter their choice of services ; only in exceptional cases such applications may be considered provided they reach the Secretary, Public Service Commission, Bengal, before the examination begins. Appointments will be assigned to successful competitors with due consideration to their choice and the number of vacancies in the services.

3. Qualifications.—The indispensable qualifications of a candidate are—

(i) that he is a native of Bengal or has a permanent domicile within the Presidency of Bengal ;

(ii) that he is a natural born subject of His Majesty, or of an Indian State in respect of whom the Governor-General in Council has made a declaration under section 262 of the Government of India Act, 1935 ;

(iii) that he shall have attained the age of 22 and shall not have attained the age of 25 on the 1st October 1940.

(iv) that he is a graduate of a recognised University ;

(v) that he is of good character ; and

(vi) that he is of sound health, good physique, active habits and free from organic defects or bodily infirmity.

Along with his application every candidate shall attach his Matriculation Certificate in original and certificates, written not more than one year prior to the date of his application, from two responsible persons unconnected with his College or University, and not related to him, testifying to his private character and stating that he is a native of or has a permanent domicile within the Province of Bengal. The Scheduled Caste candidates are required to furnish also a certificate from the District Magistrates of their districts, or from the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta (in case of Calcutta candidates) testifying to their belonging to one of the Scheduled Castes recognised by Government. Excepting the original Matriculation Certificate other certificates will not be returned. The age limits can in no case be relaxed.

4. Applications—Method of submission of fee, etc.—(i) A person desiring to be admitted to the examination shall apply before the 20th August 1940 to the head of the college from which he passed his examination for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, Science, Commerce, etc. A candidate who passed the examination as a non-collegiate student shall send in his application to the Registrar, Calcutta University together with a certificate of character signed by the Principal of his College if he was connected with one, and by the Magistrate of the district in which he is resident in other cases ; candidates from the Dacca University shall apply to the Registrar, Dacca University. All other candidates (not included in the previously mentioned categories) shall apply to the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, Writers' Buildings, Calcutta :

Provided that in no case shall a candidate apply to more than one of these authorities, and that such applications shall always be made through their Durbars by persons resident in a State in India.

(ii) Applications shall be made, in the form shown in Schedule I, copies of which may be obtained from the heads of Colleges, the Registrars of the Calcutta and Dacca Universities, and the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

(iii) No application will be taken into consideration by the nominating authority unless it is accompanied, by a chalan showing payment into a Government treasury in Bengal, or Reserve Bank of India, Calcutta, of the sum of Rs. 5. This payment is obligatory whether such application is subsequently rejected or not and no claim for a refund of this fee will be entertained. Applications stamped with postage or other stamps will not be accepted.

(iv) No allegation that an application form or letter respecting such form, has been lost or delayed in the post will be considered unless the person making such allegation produces a Post Office registration receipt or certificate of posting. Candidates who delay their applications until a late date will do so at their own risk.

5. Nomination.—The heads of Colleges, the Registrars of the Calcutta and Dacca Universities and the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, shall forward to the Secretary, Public Service Commission, Bengal, before the 25th August 1940, the applications of candidates nominated in accordance with the allotment of nominations shown in Schedule II and shall certify the moral character, of each candidate so nominated. The applications of non-collegiate students nominated by the Registrar of the Calcutta University should be supported by the character certificates mentioned in paragraph 3 above. In making these nominations, due regard should be paid to the desirability of different classes and communities being represented in the public service and four lists should be made separately for the four different categories of (1) Muslims, (2) Scheduled Castes, (3) Minority Communities and (4) Hindus. Care should be taken to nominate only such candidates as are likely to pass the medical examination since experience shows that a considerable number of candidates successful in the literary examination fail to pass the medical test.

6. Selection certificates.—The Public Service Commission will issue certificates of selection to such a number of the nominated candidates as they consider desirable. The selection or rejection of a candidate by the Commission shall be final, and no candidate shall be admitted to the examination unless he holds such a certificate :

In making their selection the Public Service Commission will have consideration to the resolution of Government fixing the communal ratio according to which all appointments to Government services will be made.

7. Particulars of candidates. -The Public Service Commission may require such further proof or particulars from the candidates as they may consider necessary, and may make enquiries regarding their character and domicile.

8. Examination fee and time-table.—Every candidate to whom a certificate of selection has been issued will, within a week from the date of its receipt, deposit into a Government treasury in Bengal or Reserve Bank of India, Calcutta, a sum of Rs. 50 as examination fee and forward the receipt for the same to the Secretary, Public Service Commission, Bengal. Under no circumstances will the fee paid be refunded. Delay in this respect may render a candidate's name liable to removal from the list of examinees. On complying with this requirement, the candidates will receive from the Secretary a time-table for the examination. The examination will be held in February 1941 at Calcutta. The dates and place of the examination will be communicated to the candidates separately.

9. Canvassing.—Any attempt on the part of a candidate to enlist support for his application through persons of influence or officials of Government will disqualify him for appointment. Spontaneous recommendations from persons interested in the candidates, or otherwise known to them, will be disregarded.

10. Disclosure of identity.—Candidates should not write their names or roll numbers anywhere except in the space provided for the purpose on the answer books. Any paper containing a mark or a hint revealing the identity of a candidate will be rejected without further scrutiny.

11. Ineligibility of Government servants.—No person holding a substantive appointment in Government service or an appointment on probation against a substantive vacancy under Government will ordinarily be eligible to appear at the competitive examination. Persons holding purely temporary posts under Government should submit their applications in the manner prescribed in paragraph 4 above.

12. Syllabus of examination and marks.—The examinations will be held in the subjects and according to the syllabus shown in Schedule III which also indicates the numerical value to be attached to each paper at the examination.

As the possession of a knowledge of a provincial vernacular is an essential condition of appointment, candidates, whose ordinary spoken and written language is not Bengali, must take up translation from English into one of the provincial vernaculars named below :—

(i) Bengali,
(ii) Hindi,
(iii) Urdu,
(iv) Nepali,

and vice versa in the compulsory paper. Until further notice European and Anglo-Indian candidates may however also take up Latin, French or German instead of a Vernacular from those mentioned above. Successful candidates, however, who have offered any language other than Bengali in that paper and are appointed to a service for which there is a Departmental Examination, will be required to pass completely the Departmental Examinations in Bengali within two years of the date of their appointment to the service.

13. Medical Examination.—As soon as the result of the examinations are ready, a proportion of the candidates who have qualified will be called upon to appear before a Medical Board for a certificate of their fitness for Government service in form A of Schedule IV of the Bengal Provincial Services Recruitment Rules. An order to appear before the Medical Board must not however be understood to mean that the candidate, if found fit, will necessarily receive an appointment as the number of candidates who will be summoned for medical examination will be slightly in excess of the total number of vacancies, and the question of his appointment will depend upon the results of the medical examination taken as a whole. Regulations governing the physical examination of candidates are set forth in Schedule IV of the Bengal Provincial Services Recruitment Rules and intending candidates are advised before they apply for admission to the examination to satisfy themselves that they are likely to qualify as physically fit under those regulations, for experience has shown that a considerable number of the candidates at the competitive examinations are subsequently rejected by the Medical Board as unfit.

F. AHMAD,
Secretary, Public Service Commission, Bengal.

The Provincial Government may define, by notification in the Official Gazette, the area within which each such officer shall exercise his powers and perform his duties and may prescribe the control which shall be exercised by the Provincial Registrar over Registrars and Sub-Registrars and by a Registrar over Sub-Registrars:

Provided that no person who is not a servant of the Crown in India shall be empowered to act as a Provincial Registrar, Registrar or Sub-Registrar under this Act.

(Sections 7—13.)

Stay of suit when money-lender does not hold licence.

13. (1) No Court shall pass a decree or order in favour of a money-lender in any suit instituted by a money-lender for the recovery of a loan advanced after the date notified under section 8, or in any suit instituted by a money-lender for the enforcement of an agreement entered into or security taken, or for the recovery of any security given, in respect of such loan, unless the Court is satisfied that, at the time or times when the loan or any part thereof was advanced, the money-lender held an effective licence.

(2) If during the trial of a suit to which sub-section (1) applies, the Court finds that the money-lender did not hold such licence, the Court shall, before proceeding with the suit, require the money-lender to pay in the prescribed manner and within the period to be fixed by the Court such penalty as the Court thinks fit, not exceeding three times the amount of the licence fee specified in section 10.

(4) The provisions of this section shall apply to a claim for a set-off by or on behalf of a money-lender.

(5) In this section, the expression "money-lender" includes an assignee of a money-lender, if the Court is satisfied that the assignment was made for the purposes of avoiding the payment of licence fee and penalty which may be ordered to be paid under this section.

Disqualification of persons for holding a licence.

14. (1) A person shall be disqualified for holding a licence—

(a) if so ordered by a Court under section 20, for the period ordered;

(4) A Registrar referred to in sub-section (3) may decide, if such appeal is allowed, as to the Sub-Registrar to whom application for a licence shall be made and his decision shall, subject to the provisions of sub-section (5), be final for all purposes, and shall be binding on such Sub-Registrar whether he be under the control of such Registrar or not.

(5) A Competent Court may, on application made within ninety days from the date of the decision of the Registrar in appeal under sub-section (3), revise such decision.

Cancellation of licence by a Sub-Registrar.

17. Any Sub-Registrar may, after giving the money-lender to whom a licence entered in the register maintained by such Sub-Registrar was issued an opportunity of being heard, cancel the licence if it is proved that such money-lender was disqualified for holding a licence at the time when such licence was issued; and thereupon the provisions of clause (ii) of sub-section (2) and of sub-sections (3), (4), (5), (6) and (7) of section 16 shall apply.

Power to Registrar and Sub-Registrar to examine any person on oath.

18. For the purposes of an inquiry under this Act relating to a disqualification for holding a licence a Registrar or a Sub-Registrar shall have and may exercise the same powers as are vested in a Civil Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, in respect of enforcing the attendance of any person and examining him on oath. V of 1908.

Application for cancellation of licence.

19. Any borrower may, in respect of any money-lender from whom he has taken a loan, make an application to a Competent Court for an order under section 20 on the ground that such money-lender has committed such contravention of the provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder as render him unfit to carry on the business of money-lending, and on receipt of such application, the said Court shall hold such inquiry as it deems necessary.

Court's power to cancel a licence.

20. (1) A Competent Court on an application under section 19 or a Court trying a suit to which this Act applies or a Court passing an order of conviction upon a money-lender for an offence under this Act, if satisfied that the money-lender has committed such contravention of the

(b) may declare such money-lender or any person responsible for the management of his money-lending business or both disqualified for holding a licence for such period as the Court may think fit and shall cancel and impound the licence held by the money-lender :

Provided that, except in the case of an order passed by a District Court, or by the Court of an Additional District Judge or by the Court of Small Causes of Calcutta, the period of disqualification shall not exceed one year.

(2) If a Court other than a District Court, or the Court of an Additional District Judge or the Court of Small Causes of Calcutta is of opinion that a period of disqualification exceeding one year should be imposed, it shall record its opinion and forward the proceedings to the District Court having jurisdiction in the place where such Court is held.

(3) The District Court to which such proceedings are submitted may, if it thinks fit, examine the parties and recall and examine any person who has already given evidence in the proceedings, and may call for and take any further evidence, and shall pass such order in the case as it thinks fit in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1).

(4) Any person aggrieved by the decision of a Court under this section may appeal against such order, in the case of the Court of Small Causes of Calcutta to the High Court and in the case of any other Court to the Court to which an appeal ordinarily lies from the decision of the Court passing the order ; and the Court which passed the order or the Court of appeal may, if it thinks fit, stay the operation of the order under this section pending the disposal of the appeal :

Provided that where the Court of appeal sets aside or varies an order passed under this section, it shall order that any endorsements made in pursuance thereof upon a licence held by a money-lender shall be erased or modified.

(5) The substance of any order passed under sub-section (1), sub-section (3) or sub-section (4) shall be sent forthwith in the prescribed form by the Court passing the order to the Provincial Registrar and also together with the cancelled licence to the Sub-Registrar who maintains the register in which the licence affected has been entered for entry in the said register and for such circulation of the substance of the said order to other Registrars as may be prescribed.

(6) Any licence required by a Court for endorsement under sub-section (1) shall be produced in such manner and at such time as the Court may direct by the person by whom it is held, and any person who without reasonable cause makes default herein shall be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for each day of the period during which the default continues.

(b) if the Court finds that the provisions of either of the said sections have not been so complied with, it may, if the plaintiff's claim is established either wholly or in part, disallow the whole or such portion of the interest found due as may, in the circumstances of the case, appear reasonable to the Court, and may also disallow costs, or in computing the amount of interest due upon the loan, the Court may exclude any period for which the money-lender omitted to comply with the provisions of either of the said sections :

Provided that if the money-lender has, after the time specified in the said sections, given the receipt or furnished the statement, as the case may be, and if he satisfies the Court that he had sufficient cause for not doing so earlier, the Court may include any such period in computing the interest.

Explanation.—A money-lender who has given a receipt or furnished a statement in the prescribed form shall be held to have complied with the provisions of section 24 or section 25, as the case may be, in spite of any errors and omissions in such receipt or statement, if the Court finds that such errors and omissions are neither material nor made fraudulently.

29. (1) Subject as hereinafter provided, the provisions of this Act shall continue to apply as respects any debt due to a lender or money-lender in respect of loans advanced by him after the commencement of this Act or in respect of interest on such loans or of the benefit of any agreement made or security taken in respect of any such debt or interest, notwithstanding that the debt or the benefit of the agreement or security may have been assigned to any assignee, and except where the context otherwise requires, references in this Act to a lender or money-lender shall accordingly be construed as including any such assignee as aforesaid:

Provided that, notwithstanding anything contained in this Act—

(a) any agreement with, or security taken by, a lender or money-lender in respect of a loan advanced by him after the commencement of this Act shall be valid in favour of any bona fide assignee or holder for value without notice of any defect due to the operation of this Act and of any person deriving title under him; and

(b) any payment or transfer of money or property made bona fide by any person, whether acting in a fiduciary capacity or otherwise on the faith of the validity of any such agreement or security, without notice of any such defect shall, in favour of that person, be as valid as it would have been if the agreement or security had been valid;

but in every such case the lender or money-lender shall be liable to indemnify the borrower or any other person who is prejudiced by virtue of this section, and nothing in this proviso shall render valid an agreement or security in favour of, or apply to proceedings instituted by, an assignee or holder for value who is himself a money-lender.

(2) The provisions of this Act shall apply and be deemed always to have applied and shall continue to apply as respects any debt due to a lender or money-lender in respect of loans advanced by him before the commencement of this Act or in respect of interest on such loans or of the benefit of any agreement made or security taken in respect of any such debt or interest, notwithstanding that the debt or the benefit of the agreement or security may have been assigned to any assignee, and except where the context otherwise requires, references in this Act to a lender or money-lender shall accordingly be construed as including any such assignee as aforesaid.

(3) Nothing in this section shall render valid for any purpose any agreement, security or other transaction which would, apart from the provisions of this Act, have been void or unenforceable.

CHAPTER VI.

Limitations as to amount and rate of interest recoverable.

30. Notwithstanding anything contained in any law for the time being in force, or in any agreement,

Computation of interest on loans in kind.

32. In the case of loans in kind, the money value of the commodity at the time when, and in the locality where, the loan was advanced shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the principal of the loan, and in determining the amount which may, subject to the provisions of this chapter, be decreed in respect of any loan repayable in kind, the Court shall take into consideration the market value of the commodity in the said locality at the date or dates of repayment.

Prohibition of charges for expenses on loans.

33. Any agreement between a lender and a borrower or intending borrower for the payment to the lender of any sum on account of costs, charges or expenses incidental or relating to the negotiations for, or the granting of, the loan or proposed loan, shall be illegal, and if any sum is paid to a lender by the borrower or intending borrower as, for or on account of any such costs, charges or expenses, that sum shall be recoverable as a debt due to the borrower or intending borrower, or in the event of the loan being completed, shall, if not so recovered, be set off against the amount actually lent and that amount shall be deemed to be reduced accordingly:

The Bengal Money-lenders Act, 1940.

(Section 34.)

Provided that nothing in this section shall debar a lender from recovering the costs of investigating title, of stamp duty and registration of documents and other necessary and incidental expenses in cases where the agreement includes a stipulation that property is to be given as security or by way of mortgage, or the costs of stamp duty and registration of documents in the case of unsecured loans, if both parties have agreed to such expenditure and the reimbursement thereof, nor from recovering such costs, charges or expenses as are leviable under the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, or any other law for the time being in force. IV of 1882.

CHAPTER VII.

Provided that nothing in this clause shall affect the power of the Court to allow extension of time under sub-rule (2) of rule 2 or sub-rule (2) of rule 4 of the said Order :

Provided further that if the defendant, after receiving the notice referred to in sub-clause (ii) and before a final decree is passed, makes payment into Court of the amount due from him in respect of any such instalment, the payment of such instalment shall not be deemed to be in default and the Court shall not pass a final decree ;

The Bengal Money-lenders Act, 1940.

Provided further that if the judgment-debtor, after receiving the notice referred to in this sub-section and prior to an order for execution of the decree, makes payment into Court of the amount due from him in respect of any such instalment, the payment of such instalment shall not be deemed to be in default and the Court shall not order execution of the decree.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Secondary Education is in Bengal at present uncontrolled. There is no authority with power to regulate development according to a planned scheme or to insist upon certain standards being maintained. The University of Calcutta has a certain amount of authority over schools desiring to send up candidates for Matriculation. Government have a certain amount of influence over those schools which receive grant-in-aid. Expansion in an unplanned manner has been rapid and in the interests of good teaching, the maintenance of standards and the provision of facilities it is essential that there should be established an authority with power to plan and legislate in the interests of education throughout the Province. The establishment of such an authority was strongly recommended by the Sadler Commission over twenty years ago. Since that time many attempts have been made to establish a Board of Secondary Education. These have failed owing to the impossibility of reconciling the points of view of the University of Calcutta and Government. The development of Secondary Education cannot be allowed to drift indefinitely upon dangerous currents aimless and uncontrolled. The present Bill proposes to establish one Board with authority over Secondary Schools of all types throughout the Province. The general plan of control is that of a large body exercising general supervision and determining policy and a smaller executive body consisting of experienced educationists to give executive effect to that policy. Statutory Committees are created to deal with special problems. The representation of various communities is guaranteed and interested bodies such as the Universities are adequately represented. The establishment of a Board of Secondary Education will make possible a planned efficient development and control of Secondary Schools and Secondary Education.

THE BENGAL MARRIAGE DOWRY PREVENTION BILL, 1939.

A

to abolish the practice of taking dowries in marriages in Bengal.

WHEREAS it is expedient to abolish the dowry system in marriages for the prevention of cruelties in marriages in Hindus, Muhammadans and any other societies domiciled in Bengal and for making the marriage ceremony easier and happier in those societies, it is hereby enacted as follows :—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Bengal Marriage Dowry Prevention Act, 1939.

(2) It extends to the whole of Bengal and is applicable to the Hindus, Muhammadans and all other societies domiciled in Bengal.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Provincial Government may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, appoint.

2. In this Act unless there is anything repugnant in the object or context—

(1) The term " Bridegroom's party " means and includes the party of the bridegroom, his relations, friends, and other persons who are connected with the marriage settlement of the bridegroom, and " bride's party " means and includes parents of the bride, her relations who are connected with her marriage settlement.

(2) " Dowry " means and includes any amount in cash, any ornament for bride or bridegroom or any other property moveable or immoveable or any valuable security, i.e., a document whereby a legal right to any such property is created, extended, transferred, restricted, extinguished, or released or whereby any person acknowledges that he is under any legal liability or has not a legal right in respect of any such property given or executed in consideration of marriage.

3. If any bridegroom, anyone of his party receives or in any way appropriates any dowry from the bride or her party or if a bride or any of bride's party receives or in any way appropriates any dowry from the bridegroom or his party, or if a bridegroom or bride refuses to marry or his or her party refuses to consent to the marriage only on the ground of inability of the other party to pay dowry, he or she shall be punished with imprisonment of either description which may extend to three months or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees or with both :

Provided that no gift of any ornaments, cloths or garments or any other thing which are ordinarily used by females of that class of society to which the bride belongs and which are given to the bride out of affection without any demand from the bridegroom or bride or any of his or her party, is a dowry within the meaning of this section.

The Bengal Marriage Dowry Prevention Bill, 1939.

(Clauses 4, 5.)

4. If a husband gives pressure to or ill treats his wife in order to exact or thereby exacts any dowry after marriage from her or her father, mother or brother or if he insults or threatens to insult or to forsake her for the exaction of any such dowry from her or her father, mother, or brother, he shall be punished with imprisonment of either description which may extend to three months or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees or with both.

5. No Magistrate shall take cognizance of such a case except on the complaint of the bride or wife or on the complaint of her father, mother or brother or the bridegroom as the case may be and the offence shall be bailable and compoundable.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

A nefarious practice of extorting heavy dowry from the bride's parents has grown amongst the educated communities of Hindus and Muhammadans in Bengal, so much so, that many families have been heavily indebted and ruined and many others are going to be ruined under the pressure of the brutal dowry system. We hear now and then and find also in newspapers, reports of unmarried girls committing suicide to relieve their parents from the heavy expenses of their marriages. In illiterate classes on the other hand the practice of payment of bride's price has assumed such shape that a poor man cannot marry till he grows old or remains unmarried for want of necessary funds for bride's price. So generally the poor man marries only to leave a widow behind him soon after his marriage. These show how this evil practice is eating in the vital part of the societies especially of Hindu and Muhammadan societies. If this pernicious practice is not checked in time, it will create havoc in the communities concerned.

2. The dowry system is bad upon principle as in these days of equality, it is fully injudicious and unjust that man and woman should be treated differently in marriages.

3. In these days of economic difficulties it is suicidal to the societies to indulge in unnecessary expenses. For these and other reasons it is absolutely necessary that this evil practice be immediately stopped by legislation.

THE BENGAL MEDICAL (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1937.

A

further to amend the Bengal Medical Act, 1914.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Bengal Medical Act, 1914, for the purpose hereinafter appearing; Ben. Act VI of 1914.

AND WHEREAS the previous sanction of the Governor has been obtained under sub-section (1) of section 119 of the Government of India Act, 1935, to the passing of this Act; 26 Geo. 5, Ch. 2.

It is enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. (i) This Act may be called Bengal Medical (Amendment) Act, 1937.

Extent and commencement.

(ii) It extends to the whole of Bengal.

(iii) It shall come into force on the day on which it is published in the Calcutta Gazette after having received the assent of the Governor.

2. (i) After section 17 add the following proviso:—

Provided that the Local Government may, after consulting the Council, permit registration of—

(a) any person who shall furnish to the Registrar proof that he is possessed of a medical degree, diploma or certificate of any University, Medical College or School approved by the Council other than those described in the Schedule and is such as was actually practising the western (modern scientific system of Allopathic) medicine before 27th May, 1914,

(b) any person who shall furnish to the Registrar proof that he has obtained proper training in any medical institution approved by the Council and has joined medical profession before the enforcement of the Bengal Medical (Amendment) Act, 1937, provided that he passes a special examination such as the Council may hold for the purpose of granting registration.

(ii) In proviso to section 17 between the word "provided" and the words "that the Council" the word "further" shall be added.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Bengal Medical Act (Act VI of 1914) was passed in 1914. But unlike similar Acts in the Punjab, the United Provinces, Burma, Bombay and even in England it did not provide for the permanent relief of the then medical practitioners actually practising in the province. In lieu of this the Government of Bengal only provided temporarily for a limited number of trained men to obtain the registrable qualifications by passing examination. This transitory provision is, however, quite inadequate. Many of the medical practitioners, who lived abroad at that time or who remained in the remotest corners of the interior villages and were not aware of the privilege, had been left out. These unregistered practitioners are not now deemed qualified and are not even considered fit to certify their patients' illness or to procure requisite medicines for their patients. Thus the present All-India Medical Mission have come into existence. It was through their efforts that legislation on the subject was tried several times without success. It is now time to consider the matter afresh and some permanent relief is to be given to these poor medical practitioners.

The Medical Act (Act VI of 1914), while restricting the registration of medical practitioners did not restrict the establishment of private medical institutions. Some of these unrecognised institutions have since been recognised. But the students who completed their course of education therein and began to practise before such recognition have been left in the lurch. Therefore it is found that there are two sets of good doctors trained at the same institutions, one set of whom are unqualified for want of registration, while another set are qualified by registration. It is but fair and equitable that such students should be given another opportunity of being qualified.

Other medical institutions still unrecognised are producing medical practitioners. In order to qualify them they should also be given a chance to appear in another Licentiateship examination similar to that of 1916.

It is to do away with the disabilities of these medical practitioners and to enable them to get their names entered in the "Register of Registered Practitioners" that this amendment to the Bengal Medical Act (Act VI of 1914) is required.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

It is a fact that the Permanent Settlement was granted to the landlords (zamindars) not merely for their own benefit but also for the benefit of raiyats of all grades. But the raiyats of Bengal have been still suffering in ways more than one. The Bengal Tenancy Act was passed in 1885 with the intention of protecting the raiyats from all unjust claims or exactions, but it is an irony of fate that many of the provisions of this very Act with all its past amendments militate against the principles and the intentions of the Permanent Settlement. Among the many grievances the rates of rents strike the most. The rents payable by the raiyats to-day are much beyond their economic capacity. Rents have increased to such exorbitant extent that the lands of the cultivators are rapidly passing away from their hands. As an instance, the revenue or sadar-jama of Aila Tearkhali and Fuljhuri estate in the district of Bakarganj is Rs. 372-3-8 while the total demands of rents from raiyats of this estate amount to Rs. 92,987-7-5. From such an instance one can very well realise the extent of demands on the raiyats in this province. This Bill has been drafted to mitigate many of the standing evils. The Bill provides that in the vast permanently-settled areas a landlord's claim of rent upon his tenant should not exceed, by more than 50 per cent. the revenue or rent which he himself pays to Government or his superior landlord and that the rates of rents in lands not subject to the Permanent Settlement should also be readjusted and reduced wherever required, according to the rates of rents payable for similar lands in the vicinity in permanently-settled area; and that rates of rents payable by all grades of tenants should be made permanent. Another feature of this Bill is that if the rates of rent are reduced on this basis the landlords should be exempted from paying any cesses whatsoever and the cultivating raiyats should pay such cesses in future on acreage basis instead of rupee basis. The Bill, among others, deals with the following salient points :—

Section 1 to be amended to extend the operation of this Act to all municipal and chandina lands in mufassal areas.

Sections 6-9 to be repealed to stop enhancement of rents of tenures.

Section 18 to be repealed as redundant.

Section 19 to be amended to make provision that every raiyat and under-raiyat should have occupancy right.

Sections 20-21 to be repealed as redundant.

Section 23A to be amended to extend the rights of raiyats and under-raiyats and to enable them to make all sorts of improvements on their lands including the erection of masonry houses and buildings for religious, educational and charitable purposes.

Sections 26D, 26F, 26G, 26H and 26J to be repealed to abolish the landlord's transfer fee and the right of pre-emption.

Sections 27-39 to be repealed as being inconsistent with Chapter VIII.

Sections 41-47 to be repealed to abolish non-occupancy right.

Sections 51A and 51B (new) to be inserted to reduce the excessive rents by proposing a new method of settling rates of rent for all grades of tenants in a permanently-settled area.

Section 51D (new) to be inserted to reduce the excessive rent by proposing a new method of settling rates of rent for all grades of tenants in areas not subject to Permanent Settlement.

Section 51E (new) to be inserted to make the rates of rent of all grades of tenants permanent.

Section 51F (new) to be inserted to exempt landlords from paying any cesses, if the rates of rent are reduced on the basis suggested in this Bill.

Section 51H (new) to be inserted for publishing the average rate of revenue per acre in each estate or pargana as ascertained from the settlement records.

Section 58 to be amended to penalise landlords refusing to grant rent-receipts.

Sections 76-83 to be repealed to abolish the provisions for enhancement of rent for improvements made by landlords.

Section 88 to be amended to abolish heavy mutation fee and simplifies the present complicated procedure for having a division of tenure or holding or distribution of rent thereof.

Sections 140B to 140D to be repealed as the rates of rent will be so much reduced that a table showing different rates of rents for different classes of land will not be necessary.

Sections 179, 180A-180C to be repealed as redundant and inconsistent.

Section 181 to be amended to give the holder of service-tenure the status of occupancy right.

Sections 182, 183 and 191 to be repealed as inconsistent.

Section 195A to be repealed as it deals with unjust landlord's fee or landlord's transfer fee.

(2) As soon as possible after the preparation of the scheme and estimate the Authorised Officer shall prepare a preliminary list of apportionment, showing the names of persons likely to be benefited by the work and the portion of the cost thereof approximately payable by each such person, and shall, in the prescribed manner, publish a general notice inviting objections thereto by any person interested in, or likely to be benefited by, the scheme within such period as may be specified in the notice.

(3) The Collector shall, as soon as possible after the expiry of the period specified in the notice published under sub-section (2), proceed in the prescribed manner to consider any objections received in regard to the preliminary list of apportionment.

The Bengal Water-Hyacinth (Amendment) Bill, 1940.

(Clause 4.)

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section 'cost' includes—

(b) the estimated capitalized cost of the maintenance of the work ;

(c) the total expenditure incurred by the Authorised Officer in connection with the scheme, inclusive of any preliminary inquiry and the apportionment of cost and its recovery ;

Amendment of section 23.

4. In sub-section (2) of section 23 of the said Act—

(a) in clause (a) after the words "a general notice" the words, figures, letter and brackets "under sub-section (2) of section 13A or" shall be inserted, and

(b) in clause (d) after the figures "13" the figures and letter "13A" shall be inserted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The crops of certain tracts of this province are devastated by water-hyacinth largely because there is lack of co-operation and organisation among the people for constructing and maintaining protective fences and barriers to prevent the influx and divert the movement of water-hyacinth in those areas. To remedy this, amendment of the Bengal Water-Hyacinth Act, 1936, is considered necessary. The object of the Bill is to amend the Bengal Water-Hyacinth Act, 1936, so as to enable Collectors or Authorised Officers to prepare schemes, make estimates of the cost, and carry out the work of construction and maintenance of fences and barriers, etc., and to recover the cost proportionately from the persons benefited. Certain consequential changes arising out of this amendment have also been incorporated in the Bill.

Dacca, the 24th July 1940:

Forecast of the Summer Til (Sesamum) Crop of Bengal, 1940-41.

(Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1937-38, the area under til in Bengal has represented some 3·5 per cent. of the total area under til in India.)

Character of the season.—Rainfall in February and March was sufficient for preparatory tillage and the sowings commenced generally in the normal time. Outturn. From the District Officers' estimates, the average outturn of the crop for the Province works out at 72 per cent. of the normal this year as against 69 per cent. last year.

Taking the normal yield at 7 1/20th maunds per acre, the gross outturn of the crop for the Province is estimated at about 23,700 tons this year as against 24,100 tons last year.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 8371L.—7th August 1940.—The Governor having been pleased to order, under rule 48 of the Bengal Legislative Council Procedure Rules, the publication of the following Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons which accompanies it, in the Calcutta Gazette, the Bill, and the Statement of Objects and Reasons are accordingly hereby published for general information.

THE BENGAL LEGISLATURE (REMOVAL OF DISQUALIFICATIONS AMENDMENT) BILL, 1940.

A

to amend the Bengal Legislature (Removal of Disqualifications) Act, 1937.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Bengal Legislature (Removal of Disqualifications) Act, 1937 for the purposes and in the manner hereinafter appearing; Ben. Act III of 1937.

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Bengal Legislature (Removal of Disqualifications Amendment) Act, 1940.

Amendment of section 2 of Ben. Act III of 1937.

2. After clause (c) of section 2 of the Bengal Legislature (Removal of Disqualifications) Act, 1937 the following clause shall be added, namely:—

"(d) an office in any of His Majesty's military, naval or air forces in India or connected with the equipment or administration of any of those forces or otherwise connected with defence—

(i) in time of war, for any purpose whatever, or

(ii) at any other time, for any purpose connected with the maintenance of the internal security of Bengal."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

By virtue of the provision of clause (b) of section 2 of the Bengal Legislature (Removal of Disqualifications) Act, 1937, a person is not debarred from becoming or being a member of either Chamber of the Bengal Legislature by reason only of the fact that as a part-time member of any of His Majesty's Naval, Military or Air Forces, he holds an office of profit under the Crown in India. When however such a member of the Legislature holds such an office as a full-time member of any of such Forces, he is disqualified for being a member and his seat in the Legislature falls vacant automatically. The object of this amending Bill is to enable such a member to retain his seat in the Legislature even if he so holds such an office in time of war for any purpose or in time of peace for any purpose connected with internal security.

"I certify that I have examined the record and the grounds of appeal in this case, and that, in my opinion, the grounds of appeal are good, and I undertake to appear and support them before the appellate authority."

35. Unless for sufficient reasons to be recorded in writing the appellate authority dismisses the appeal summarily, he shall admit the appeal and call for the records of the case and a report with regard to the grounds set forth in the memorandum of appeal from the authority against whose orders the appeal has been preferred.

(3) The Collector shall determine the extent of the rights to use the water of the tank for irrigation purposes to be conferred on different persons by permission granted under sub-section (2).

(4) Any sum due to the authorised person under this section shall be recoverable as a public demand.

Rates of fees for use of water under section 16.

17. (1) Such Revenue authority as may be appointed by the Provincial Government in this behalf shall fix, in respect of any tank of which possession is taken under this Act, the rates at which fees may be charged by the authorised person under section 16. Such fees shall be calculated so as to recover within a period of twenty years all costs, together with interest thereon at the rate of six and a quarter per centum per annum, incurred or likely to be incurred—

(a) by the authorised person in carrying out the required improvements in the tank, and

(b) by the Collector in carrying out the purposes of this Act in respect of the tank.

(2) The rate of fees payable in respect of land for the irrigation of which any person had, at the time when possession was taken of the tank under this Act, no right to use the water of the tank shall be fixed so as to exceed by fifty per cent. the rate of fees payable in respect of land for the irrigation of which a person had such a right.

(3) The Revenue authority appointed under sub-section (1) may from time to time revise the rates of fees fixed under this section in respect of any tank.

Power of authorised person to lease out the tank, etc.

18. During the period of possession the authorised person may, subject to the provisions of this Act and the previous permission of the Collector, lease to any person for a period not extending beyond the period of possession any part of the banks of the tank or any right to take fruit from trees on or other produce from, such banks or any right to rear and catch fish in the tank.

Bar to transfer of tank except as provided in this Act.

Class 3 shall be sub-divided as follows:— Division 1, comprising any chemical compound or mechanically mixed preparation which consists, either wholly or partly, of nitro-glycerine or some other liquid nitro-compound that is such explosives as Ballistite, Blasting Gelatine, Cordite, Dynamite, Gelatine Dynamite, Gelignite, etc. Division 2, comprising any nitro-compound which is not comprised in Division 1 that is explosives such as Ammonal, E. C. Sporting Powder, Guncotton, Picric Acid, Smokeless Diamond, Trinitro-toluol (T. N. T.), etc.

Item No.	Class.	Definition.	Sub-Division.
5	Class 5 . Fulminate	"Fulminate" means any chemical compound or mechanical mixture whatever, which, from its great susceptibility to detonation, is suitable for employment in percussion-caps or any other appliances for developing detonation, or which, from its extreme sensibility to explosion and from its great instability (that is to say, readiness to undergo decomposition from very slight exciting causes), is especially dangerous.	Class 5 shall be sub-divided as follows :— Division 1, comprising such compounds as the fulminates of silver and of mercury, and preparations of those substances such as are used in percussion-caps, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with phosphorus, or certain descriptions of compounds of phosphorous, with or without the addition of carbonaceous matter, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with sulphur or with sulphuret, with or without carbonaceous matter ; and Division 2, comprising such substances as the chloride and the iodide of nitrogen, fulminating gold and silver, diazobenzol, and the nitrate of diazobenzol.

N. B.—The apparatus and materials are to comply in all respects with the specifications and standard patterns. The standard patterns, except No. XXI are held by the Deputy Warden of the Standards, Board of Trade. Patern No. XXI is held by H. M. Inspectors of Explosives, Home Office.

SPECIFICATIONS OF MATERIALS.

Specification A. Acid, acetic.—The acetic acid is to be clear, colourless, and free from all impurities, and is not to contain less than 96 per cent. CH_3COOH. When 1 c.c. of N/10 potassium permangnate solution is added to 100 c.c. of the acetic acid maintained at 15° C., the distinctive colour is to remain for not less than 15 minutes.

One drop of the diluted acetic acid—one volume of acetic acid diluted with four volumes of distilled water—when placed by means of a glass rod on freshly-prepared potassium iodide-starch paper is to produce no colour.

Specification B. Chalk, French.—The French chalk is to be equal in colour to the standard sample, and is not to contain more than 0·5 per cent. of moisture.

The bulk of the French chalk is to be such that a volume of 50 c.c. will weigh 23·5 ± 1·0 grammes. This is to be determined as follows:—A glass funnel the stem of which is 11 cm. in length, tapering internally from 8 mm. at the top to 5 mm. at the end, is to be clamped vertically above a 50 c.c. cylinder so that the mouth of the latter is 7 cm. below the lowest point of the funnel. The cylinder is to be 2·5 cm. in internal diameter, with a ground edge. The French chalk is to be poured gradually into the funnel and allowed to flow into the cylinder until the latter overflows. This should take one minute. The surface of the chalk is then to be levelled off, without tapping or shaking the cylinder, by drawing a straight edge over the mouth of the cylinder. The cylinder and contents are then to be weighed.

The fineness of the French chalk is to be such that it will all pass, without rubbing, through a 0·075 mm. wire sieve of 6,400 meshes per square centimetre.

The French chalk is not to contain more than 0·1 per cent. of soluble alkali salts calculated as $CaCO_3$. This is to be determined as follows:—

10 grammes of the chalk are to be boiled with 250 c.c. of water for one minute, filtered, washed, and the filtrate titrated with N/10 hydrochloric acid.

The French chalk, when warmed with hydrochloric acid is not to give off more than 1 per cent. and not less than 0·25 per cent. of carbonic acid gas.

The French chalk is not to absorb more than 0·5 per cent. of moisture after being dried at 100° C. till constant in weight, and then exposed under a bell-jar to a saturated atmosphere at 15° C. to 20° C. for 24 hours.

Note.—Before use in heat test experiments the French chalk is to be carefully washed with distilled water, dried in a water oven at 65-70° C., and exposed to a saturated atmosphere for 24 hours. It is to be kept in a well-stoppered bottle.

Specification C. Glycerine.—The glycerine is to comply with the British Pharmacopoeia Specification in all respects.

Specification D. (tentative). Paper filter. The paper for making heat test paper is to consist entirely of pure normal cotton cellulose of strongly resistant quality and free from any loading or sizing.

During manufacture, the paper is not to be submitted to artificial heat of any kind.

The paper is to have a smooth white surface, and both sides are to be as nearly alike as possible.

The average length of the fibres is to be 2+0·5 mm.

Ten sheets, when measured with a Ciceri Smith's patent fixed pressure micrometer are to have a thickness of 1·8 ± 0·2 mm.

The weight of the paper per cubic centimetre is to be.....gramme.

The last treatment in its preparation is to be a thorough washing with pure distilled water and subsequent airdrying in a pure atmosphere.

The paper is to be free from all traces of chemical or other impurity, particularly acids, chlorine and peroxides.

The ash in the paper is not to exceed.....per cent.

On boiling with 3 per cent. caustic soda solution for 60 minutes, the paper is not to lose more than 7·5 per cent. of its weight.

When heated for 15 minutes at 100° C. with Fehlings solution, diluted with twice its volume of boiling water, it is not to produce more than 1·25 per cent. of its weight of cuprous oxide (Cu_2O).

It is to be supplied in sheets 50 cm. long by 15 cm. wide, and each 100 sheets packed separately in a hermetically sealed tin case closed by a tear-off strip.

For use in the extraction of nitro-glycerine from dynamite it is to be supplied in circles 5·5 cm. in diameter, each 100 papers being packed separately.

Papers, standard tint.—The standard tint papers are to be made by the method described in, and are to conform to the conditions laid down in Appendix I.

Specification E. Papers, test.—The papers are to be prepared and tested by the method laid down in Appendix II.

Each batch of papers is to be tested by carrying out four consecutive tests of four papers on each of two days. The mean test obtained is to be 18·5 ± 0·75 minutes, and the mean deviation from the mean not more than ± 0·5 minutes. A test differing from the mean by more than two minutes is to be considered abnormal, and is to be disregarded unless there are more than one of such abnormal tests amongst the 32 papers tested, in which case the batch is to be condemned.

II.—Preparation of the sample to be tested.

All the operations in preparing a sample for testing are to be carried out as expeditiously as possible, avoiding exposure to light, as far as practicable, and the test is to be carried out as soon as the sample is prepared.

In weighing out heat test quantities, an accuracy of ± 0·05 gramme is sufficient. These quantities are to be weighed out into test tubes which have been fitted with rubber rings, the lower surface of which coincides with the bottom line etched on the test tube.

Explosives of Class 3, Nitro-compound, Division 1:—

1. Dynamite and other nitro-glycerine preparations from which the nitro-glycerine can be conveniently extracted with water in the manner described for dynamite:—

(a) The 5·5 cm. glass funnel is to be placed in a hole of the heat test tube stand and 5·5 cm. filter paper, folded in the usual way, placed in it.

(b) A cartridge of the sample to be tested is to be opened at one end and rotated with one hand, while with the other the contents of the cartridge are to be loosened by means of pressure between the thumb and forefinger. The first half inch of the sample so loosened is to be rejected.

(c) The cartridge is then to be inverted over the scoop, and the loosening operation continued so as to transfer a portion of the explosive to the scoop.

(d) When the weight of the sample in the scoop has been adjusted to 13 grammes, the sample is to be transferred to the funnel and pressed down fairly tightly with the flat-headed glass rod until the surface is level.

(e) The funnel is then to be placed in the heat test tube supported in the heat test tube stand and filled up with distilled water. The stem of the extraction funnel is not to touch the side of the heat test tube.

(f) When 2 c.c. of nitro-glycerine have been collected in the test tube the extraction funnel is to be removed. The sample is then ready to be heat tested.

(g) In the event of any water going through with the intro-glycerine a fresh sample of dynamite is to be extracted.

2. Carbonite, Monobel Powder, and similar friable nitro-glycerine preparations from which the nitro-glycerine cannot be conveniently extracted with water:—

(a) A cartridge of the sample to be tested is to be opened at one end and rotated with one hand, while with the other the contents of the cartridge are to be loosened by means of pressure between the thumb and forefinger. The first half inch of the sample so loosened is to be rejected.

(b) The cartridge is then to be inverted over the scoop and the loosening operation continued so as to transfer a portion of the explosive to the scoop.

(c) When the weight of the sample in the scoop has been adjusted to 3·2 grammes, the sample is to be transferred by means of the aluminium funnel, to a heat test-tube, collected at the bottom by gently tapping the side of the tube with the fingers, and pressed down to a height of 3 centimetres by means of the flat-headed glass rod. The sample is then ready to be heat tested.

3. Blasting Gelatine, Gelatine Dynamite, Gelignite, and analogous preparations:—

(a) The wrapper of the cartridge is to be opened out and half an inch of the sample is to be removed with the spatula and rejected. A piece weighing 3·2 grammes as nearly as can be judged is then to be cut off for the test. The sample is to lie on its own wrapper during these operations, and direct contact of the operator's hands with the sample is to be avoided.

(b) The portion of the sample removed is to be weighed in the scoop and pieces added to, or removed from, it until 3·2 grammes are obtained. This quantity is then to be transferred to the mortar. 6·5 grammes of French chalk are to be weighed out using the spatula and scoop, and also transferred to the mortar.

(c) The sample is to be incorporated with the French chalk by repeatedly squeezing it with the end of the pestle, until it is in a condition in which it can be ground. The times for normal samples should generally be as follows:—

Blasting gelatine	...	...	1½ minutes.
Gelatine dynamite	...	...	1 minute.
Gelignite and similar explosives containing less than 63 per cent. of nitro-glycerine ...			½ minute.

The mixture is then to be ground by a circular movement of the pestle for a further period of half a minute, and should then be homogeneous in appearance.

(d) The mixture is to be transferred to a test-tube by means of the horn spatula and the aluminium funnel, and gently pressed down to a height of 5 centimetres with the flat-headed glass rod. The sample is then ready to be heat tested.

(e) The pestle and mortar after each grinding are to be thoroughly washed with tap water, rinsed with distilled water, dried with a clean towel, and finally dried in a bath at 100°C. The pestle and mortar are to be allowed to cool to the ordinary temperature before being used again.

4. Cordite, Ballistite and other propellants of Class 3, Nitro-compound, Division 1:—

(1) Explosives in the form of sticks or tubes:—

(a) The operator is to wash his hands carefully, thoroughly rinse them in distilled water, and dry them with a clean towel.

(b) The sticks or tubes to be tested are to be wiped with clean filter paper.

(c) The sample is to be reduced to a condition suitable for grinding in the cordite mill by being cut into small pieces about one-eighth inch long by means of the cordite knife, half an inch being rejected from each end of the sticks or tubes to be tested.

(d) The set of sieves with the lid removed is to be placed under the mill so as to allow the ground material to fall directly on to the top sieve.

(e) The cut sample is to be transferred from the cordite tray to the mill and ground. The first portion passing through the mill is to be rejected. A sufficient quantity of the sample is to be taken to ensure that enough material is obtained on the second sieve without grinding the whole quantity introduced into the mill.

(f) The lid is to be replaced on the set of sieves and the sample is sieved for one minute. The material which remains on the second sieve is to be taken for heat test, except in the case of powder in sticks or tubes, the nominal diameter of which is less than 0·03 inch; in this case, the material in the bottom compartment is to be taken for heat test.

(g) 1·6 grammes of the ground and sieved sample are to be weighed out in the scoop, transferred by means of the aluminium funnel to a heat test tube and collected at the bottom by gently tapping the side of the tube with the fingers. Three such test quantities are to be so weighed out. The sample is then ready to be heat tested.

(h) The set of sieves and the cordite mill are to be cleaned with the cleaning brush before and after the preparation of each sample.

2. Explosives in the form of grains for small-arms:—

(a) 1·6 grammes of the sample is to be weighed out in the scoop, transferred by means of the aluminium funnel to a heat test tube and collected at the bottom by gently tapping the side of the tube with the fingers. Three such test quantities are to be weighed out. The sample is then ready to be heat tested.

Explosives of Class 3, Nitro-compound, Division 2:—

1. Nitro-cellulose Pulp:—

(a) The operator is to wash his hands carefully, thoroughly rinse them with distilled water, and dry them with a clean towel.

(b) Six thicknesses of filter paper are to be laid on top of one another. Sufficient of the sample to be tested, to give about 5·6 grammes after the final pressing, is to be spread on the top sheet. Six other thicknesses of filter paper are to be similarly laid over the sample. The whole is then to be placed under pressure as, for instance, in a hand screw press, and pressure applied for three minutes. On removal from the press, the sample is to be rubbed up by hand on the filter paper and again pressed for three minutes on fresh filter paper. The sample is then to be transferred to the rectangular sieve and rubbed through it with the hand.

(c) 5 grammes of the sieved sample are to be weighed out in the scoop and spread evenly on an aluminium tray.

(d) The oven is to have been brought to, and is to be maintained at, a temperature of 120° F. (48·9° C.). The tray is to be placed in the oven and kept there for 15 minutes with the door closed.

(e) The tray is to be removed from the oven and the sample transferred to the top sieve of the set of sieves. The lid is to be replaced, and the sample sieved for two minutes. For this operation the second sieve is not to be used.

(f) The portion of the sample which passes through the top sieve is again to be spread evenly on an aluminium tray and exposed to the air of the room for four hours.

(g) 1·3 grammes of the exposed sample are to be weighed out in the scoop and transferred by means of the aluminium funnel to a heat test tube. Two such test quantities are to be so weighed out. The material in each is to be gently pressed down with the flat-headed glass rod to a height of three centimetres. The sample is then ready to be heat tested.

(h) The wire sieve and the set of sieves are to be cleaned with the cleaning brush before and after each sample has been sieved.

2. Compressed Guncotton:—

(a) About 10 grammes of guncotton are to be removed from the centre of the primer or slab by scraping with the horn spatula.

(b) The scrapings so obtained are to be placed in the glass beaker two-thirds full of cold distilled water. The sample is to be frequently stirred up in the water during 15 minutes with the flat-headed glass rod, and then allowed to settle. The water is to be poured off and replaced by a similar quantity of distilled water in which the sample is to be frequently stirred up as before during 15 minutes. After settling, the second wash water is to be poured off.

(c) The operator is to wash his hands carefully, thoroughly rinse them with distilled water, and collect the sample by hand—squeezing out the excess of water.

(d) Six thicknesses of filter paper are to be laid on top of one another. The washed guncotton is to be spread on the top sheet. Six other thicknesses of filter paper are to be similarly laid over the sample. The whole is then to be placed under pressure as, for instance, in a hand-screw press, and pressure applied for three minutes. On removal from the press, the sample is to be rubbed up on the filter paper by hand and again pressed for three minutes on fresh filter paper. The sample is then to be transferred to the rectangular sieve and rubbed through it by hand.

(e) 5 grammes of the sieved sample are to be weighed out in the scoop and spread evenly on an aluminium tray.

(f) The oven is to have been brought to, and is to be maintained at, a temperature of 120° F. (48·9° C.). The tray is to be placed in the oven and kept there for 15 minutes, with the door closed.

(g) The tray is to be removed from the oven and the sample transferred to the top sieve of the set of sieves. The lid is to be replaced, and the sample sieved for two minutes. For this operation the second sieve is not to be used.

(h) The portion of the sample which passes through the top sieve is to be again spread evenly on an aluminium tray and exposed to the air of the room for four hours.

(i) 1·3 grammes of the exposed sample are to be weighed out in the scoop and transferred by means of the aluminium funnel to a heat test tube. Two such test quantities are to be so weighed out. The material in each is to be gently pressed down with the flat-headed glass rod to a height of three centimetres. The sample is then ready to be heat tested.

(j) The wire sieve and the set of sieves are to be cleaned with the cleaning brush before and after each sample has been sieved.

3. Tonite and analogous compressed nitro-cellulose preparations:—

(a) The operator is to wash his hands carefully, thoroughly rinse them with distilled water, and dry them with a clean towel.

(b) The sample is to be held over the rectangular sieve and a sufficient quantity for the tests required is to be removed from the centre of the cartridge by scraping with the horn spatula.

(c) The explosive on the sieve is then to be rubbed through with the hand and the sieved material spread evenly on an aluminium tray.

(d) The oven is to have been brought to, and is to be maintained at, a temperature of 120° F. (48·9° C.). The tray is to be placed in the oven and kept there for 15 minutes with the door closed.

(e) The tray is to be removed from the oven and the sample transferred to the top sieve of the set of sieves. The lid is to be replaced and the sample sieved for two minutes. For this operation the second sieve is not to be used.

(f) The portion of the sample which passes through the top sieve is to be again spread evenly on an aluminium tray and exposed to the air of the room for four hours.

(g) 1·3 grammes of the exposed sample are to be weighed out in the scoop and transferred, by means of the aluminium funnel, to a heat test tube. Two such test quantities are to be so weighed out. The material in each is to be gently pressed down with the flat-headed glass rod to a height of three centimetres. The sample is then ready to be heat tested.

(h) The wire sieve and the set of sieves are to be cleaned with the cleaning brush before and after each sample has been sieved.

4. Nitro-cellulose Propelants:—

(1) Explosives in the form of sticks or tubes:—

(a) The operator is to wash his hands carefully, thoroughly rinse them in distilled water, and dry them with a clean towel.

(b) The sticks or tubes to be tested are to be wiped with clean filter paper.

(c) The sample is to be reduced to a condition suitable for grinding in the cordite mill by being cut into small pieces about one-eighth inch long by means of the cordite knife, half-an-inch being rejected from each end of the sticks or tubes to be tested.

(d) The set of sieves, with the lid removed, is to be placed under the mill so as to allow the ground material to fall directly on to the top sieve.

(e) The cut sample is to be transferred from the cordite tray to the mill and ground. The first portion passing through the mill is to be rejected. A sufficient quantity of the sample is to be taken to ensure that enough material is obtained on the second sieve without grinding the whole quantity introduced into the mill.

(f) The lid is to be replaced on the set of sieves and the sample is to be sieved for one minute. The material which remains on the second sieve is to be taken for heat test, except in the case of powder in sticks or tubes, the nominal diameter of which is less than 0·03 inch; in this case, the material in the bottom compartment is to be taken for heat test.

(g) 1·6 grammes of the ground and sieved sample are to be weighed out in the scoop, transferred by means of the aluminium funnel to a heat test tube, and collected at the bottom by gently tapping the side of the tube with the fingers. Three such test quantities are to be so weighed out. The sample is then ready to be heat tested.

(h) The set of sieves and the cordite mill are to be cleaned with the cleaning brush before and after the preparation of each sample.

(2) The explosives in the form of grains for small-arms:—

(a) A quantity of the sample sufficient for the test required is to be spread evenly on an aluminium tray.

(b) The oven is to have been brought to, and is to be maintained at, a temperature of 120°F. (48·9°C.). The tray is to be placed in the oven and kept there for 15 minutes, with the door closed.

(c) The tray is to be removed from the oven and exposed to the air of the room for 4 hours.

(d) 1·3 grammes of the exposed sample are to be weighed out in the scoop and transferred by means of the aluminium funnel to a heat test tube. Three such test quantities are to be so weighed out. The sample is then ready to be heat tested.

5. Ammonite, Bellite, Roburite and analogous preparations:—

(a) A cartridge of the sample to be tested is to be opened at one end and rotated with the one hand, while with the other the contents of the cartridge are to be loosened by means of pressure between the thumb and forefinger. The first half inch of the sample so loosened is to be rejected.

(b) The cartridge is then to be inverted over the scoop and the loosening operation continued.

(c) When the weight of the sample in the scoop has been adjusted to 1·3 grammes, the sample is to be transferred by means of the aluminium funnel to a heat test tube, and collected at the bottom by gently tapping the side of the tube with the fingers. The sample is then ready to be heat tested.

III.—Application of the Test.

(a) The water bath is to be fitted up and is to be levelled and filled with water up to the outflow. It is to be placed on a table of convenient height in such a position that the heat test tint can readily be observed by reflected light. No part of the apparatus is to be exposed to direct sunlight.

(b) The thermometer, fixed in the rubber stopper, is to be inserted in the wire cage provided for the purpose on the under side of the lid of the water bath to a depth of 3 inches. The water is to be heated to the required temperature and maintained at a constant temperature and depth. The temperatures for the various explosives are given in Table I.

(c) The glass rod with platinum wire hook is to be inserted in the rubber stopper. A test paper is then to be removed from the brown glass bottle by means of the forceps, placed on the glass plate so that its edges coincide with the lines on the plate, and pierced by passing the needle through the paper and the hole in the plate. The test paper is then to be held by means of the forceps, and a mixture of equal volumes of distilled water and glycerine is to be applied to the upper edge of the test paper by means of the glass rod of the dropping bottle in sufficient quantity to moisten the upper half of the test paper by the time the test is complete. The platinum wire hook of the glass rod is then to be passed through the hole in the paper. At no time is the operator to touch the paper with his fingers.

(d) The rubber stopper carrying the glass rod and test paper is at once to be firmly pressed into the test-tube containing the explosive to be tested, until the bottom of the stopper coincides with the top line etched on the test-tube, and the position of the glass rod is to be adjusted so that the lower edge of the wet portion of the test paper, which edge is to be approximately horizontal, coincides with the middle etched line on the test-tube. The test-tube is then to be inserted in one of the wire cages of the lid of the water bath, so that the bottom line etched on the test-tube coincides with the upper surface of the lid. The rubber ring is to be pressed down on to the bath and the cap placed in position over the tube.

The quantities of the various explosives to be placed in the test-tube are given in Table I.

The test paper is not to be inspected by lifting the cap until shortly before the time the explosive ought to stand the test as given in Table I.

(e) The test is completed when the faint brown line, which after a time makes its appearance at the margin between the wet and the dry portions of the test paper, equals in depth of tint the brown line on the standard tint paper.

For any given explosives to pass the test, the time elapsing between the introduction of the tube into the bath and the production of a tint equal to the standard must not be less than the time given in Table I.

After the test is finished, the explosive is to be carefully removed from the tubes, and the tubes thoroughly washed out with tap water by means of the test-tube brush. They are then to be rinsed out and allowed to drain for a few minutes. The washing is repeated with distilled water, the tubes rinsed, allowed to drain, and finally dried in a bath at 100° C. The tubes are to be allowed to cool to the ordinary temperature before being used again.

IV.—Exudation and Liquefaction Test for Blasting Gelatine, Gelatine Dynamite and analogous Preparations.

TEST FOR LIQUEFACTION.

A cylinder of blasting gelatine is to be cut from the cartridge to be tested, the length of the cylinder to be about equal to its diameter and the ends being cut flat.

The cylinder is to be placed on end on a flat surface without any wrapper, and secured by a pin passing vertically through its centre.

In this condition the cylinder is to be exposed for one hundred and forty-four (144) consecutive hours (six days and nights) to a temperature ranging from 85° to 90° Fahr. (inclusive), and during such exposure the cylinder shall not diminish in height by more than one-fourth of its original height, and the upper cut surface shall retain its flatness and the sharpness of its edge.

NOTE.—If the blasting gelatine and the gelatine dynamite to be tested be not made up in a cylindrical form, the above test is to be applied with the necessary modifications.

TEST FOR LIABILITY TO EXUDATION.

There shall be no separation from the general mass of the blasting gelatine or gelatine dynamite of any nitro-glycerine under any conditions of storage, transport or use, or when the material is subjected three times in succession to alternate freezing and thawing, or when subjected to the liquefaction test hereinbefore described.

V.—Picric Acid.

(1) The material shall contain not more than 0·3 part of mineral or non-combustible matter in 100 parts by weight of the material dried at 160° Fahr.

(2) It should not contain more than a minute trace of lead.

(3) One hundred parts of the dry material shall not contain more than 0·3 part of total (free and combined) sulphuric acid, of which not more than 0·1 part shall be free sulphuric acid.

(4) Its melting point should be between 248° and 253° Fahr.

VI.—Testing Chlorate-Mixtures.

The material must not be too sensitive* and must show no tendency to increase in sensitiveness on keeping.

The material must contain nothing liable to reduce the chlorate.

Chlorides calculated as potassium chloride must not exceed 0·25 per cent.

The material must contain no free acid, or substance liable to produce free acid.

Explosives of this Class containing nitro-compounds will be subject to the heat test as if they belonged to Class 3.

*They will be considered too sensitive if they can be exploded however partially by means of a glancing, blow with a broomstick on soft wood (such as deal).

APPENDIX I.

PREPARATION OF STANDARD TINT PAPERS.

0·48 gramme of the finest yellow ochre, 0·2 gramme of raw umber and 5 grammes of fine white gum arabic, all of which have been very finely ground in an agate mortar, are weighed into a stoppered bottle of about 150 c.c. capacity and 100 c.c. of water added. The whole is shaken in the cold until the gum is dissolved. The suspension is then well shaken and allowed to stand for 1 hour.

A stylographic pen is then filled from the centre of the suspension and, with the aid of a ruler, lines are drawn at a steady pace across one side of a sheet of filter paper to Specification D. The sheet is then cut up into rectangular strips 1 cm. broad by 2 cm. long, each with a line across the middle perpendicular to the length of the strip. The breadth of the line must be not less than 0·5 mm. nor more than 1 mm.

In order to maintain continuity as regards depth of tint, strips in which the tint does not correspond with that of the sealed pattern are to be rejected.

APPENDIX II.

PREPARATION AND TESTING OF HEAT TEST PAPERS.

Preparation.

Potassium Iodide.

The purest potassium iodide obtainable commercially is to be purified by triple re-crystallisation from pure ethyl alcohol, diluted by the addition of one-twentieth of its volume of distilled water. The crystals are to be kept as small as possible, and are to be spread out on clean filter paper, resting on a glass plate, and allowed to dry in the dark. When dry, they are to be placed in a thin layer on the bottom of a platinum crucible and heated to a dull red heat for one minute over a spirit lamp burning pure alcohol. When cold, the crystals are to be transferred to a brown glass stoppered bottle, from which the quantities required are to be weighed out.

The potassium iodide used for each batch of filter paper is to be prepared as above immediately before use.

Starch.

The starch used is to be the best maize starch in the form of corn-flour. It is to be purified immediately before use by washing six times by decantation with freshly distilled water. It is then to be placed on a porous plate of unglazed porcelain, allowed to dry in a warm atmosphere in the dark, and stoppered in a brown glass bottle from which the quantities required are to be weighed out.

Preparation of the Dipping Solution.

220 c.c. of freshly distilled water are to be placed in a Jena glass flask and raised to boiling point over a spirit lamp burning pure spirit. 3 grammes of the starch, prepared as above, are to be suspended in 30 c.c. of distilled water, and the mixture poured into the 220 c.c. of boiling water, with continuous shaking. The whole is to be kept boiling gently, and shaken occasionally for 5 minutes. The solution of starch so prepared is to be added to a solution of 1 gramme of the purified potassium iodide in 250 c.c. of freshly distilled water, and the solution well mixed. The mixture is to stand overnight in a dark room. The following day, the clear supernatant liquid is to be carefully syphoned off and used immediately for dipping the paper.

If it is desired to dip a large batch of paper, the foregoing quantities may be multiplied in order to obtain sufficient solution.

Dipping the Papers.

The clear potassium iodide and starch solution is to be poured into a porcelain tray, which is to be kept exclusively for this operation. Sheets of filter paper to Specification D are to be passed through it singly, so that all except 3 cm. at the end of the strip of paper, passes beneath the surface of the liquid.

The strip of paper is to be held above the tray by the dry portion, and a glass rod passed down each side to remove the excess of solution. It is then to be suspended by the undipped portion in a warm dark room, cupboard, or oven until dry.

It is advisable to nip a small piece out of the edge of each sheet at the boundary line between the wet and dry portions as a guide in subsequent cutting.

Cutting and Trimming the Test Paper.

In cutting and trimming heat test paper the operator is to wear clean cotton gloves.

When the sheets are dry they are to be trimmed by cutting off the unclipped end about 0·5 cm. below the edge of the undipped portion. 0·5 cm. strips are also cut from the other three edges. The sheets are then to be stored in amber-coloured glass jars, kept in the dark.

When a batch of paper has been passed for issue the sheets are to be cut up into rectangular pieces 1 cm. by 2 cm., and are to be issued in this form.

All the above operations are to be carried out in a building specially reserved for this work. This building is to be protected from the direct access of the sun's rays, and, is far as possible, to be kept dark.

Testing of Heat Test Papers by the diffusion Test.

Apparatus and Materials required:—

No. 1.	Acheson graphite	..Pieces, 1
2.	Acid, sulphuric, normal solution ..	..A supply.
3.	Annulus, aluminium . ..	.. 2
4.	Cap, light-tight pasteboard ..	.. 1
5.	Cylinder, glass, with rubber stopper ..	.. 1
6.	Cylinder, measuring 100 c.c.	.. 1
7.	Ferrous ammonium sulphate ..	. A supply.
8.	Jar, cylindrical, brown glass ..	.. 1
9.	Pipette, 10 c.c.	.. 1
10	Rod, stirring, glass	.. 1
11	Sodium nitrite solution containing 1·76 gm. in 1 litre	A supply
12.	Stopper, rubber, with 4 platinum hooks	.. 1

Application of the Test.

The solutions are to be brought to 15°C. before use. 2 grammes of ferrous ammonium sulphate are weighed out and placed in the glass jar, 90 c.c. of the normal surpluric acid added and solution effected by stirring with the glass rod. The jar is then placed in a bath of water at 15°C., and must be kept at that temperature throughout the experiment. The temperature of the air should be 15°C. to 17°C. 10 c.c. of the sodium nitrite solution are then added by means of the pipette and well stirred in. An aluminium annulus is placed centrally over the mouth of the jar and the orifice covered by the graphite slab; over this is placed a second annulus. Good contact between surfaces is to be ensured by exerting a slight pressure and twisting motion.

The glass cylinder with rubber stopper and light tight tap are then placed on the second annulus, and the assembled apparatus is allowed to stand for 20 minutes. After the expiration of the 20 minutes, the light tight cap and the glass cylinder are removed, the rubber stopper taken out of the cylinder, and the cylinder waved several times through the air. As soon as possible, four of the heat test papers to be tested are moistened with glycerine solution, placed on the platinum hooks of the stopper, the stopper inserted in the cylinder, and the cylinder and light tight cap again placed in position on the second annulus, and the time noted.

When the papers read by reflected light reach the standard tint, the time is again noted; the difference gives the time of test. Standard tint papers to be read by reflected light are used for comparison.

The cylinder is then removed, uncorked, waved several times through the air, and a fresh set of papers is at once put on for test. After four sets of tests have been made, the graphite slab must be heated to 200°C. for 1 hour and allowed to cool in an evacuted desiccator over potash for at least 16 hours before being used again.

A batch of papers is to be tested by carrying out four consecutive tests of four papers on each of two days.

TABLE SHOWING DISTANCES WHICH SHOULD ORDINARILY BE KEPT CLEAR IN AND ROUND MAGAZINE PREMISES.

[See note (b) to Form D.]

In any case where any of the items enumerated in the first column of this Table is, in the opinion of an Inspector of Explosives, effectively screened from a magazine either by the natural features of the ground or by good and substantial artificial mounds of earth or mine refuse, of such height that a line drawn from any part of the magazine to any part of the item in question will pass through the intervening ground or mound, the distance from that item (except for quantities of one thousand pounds of explosives and under) may be reduced to one-half. Provided that when a natural hill so intervenes as to afford a degree of protection which, in the opinion of an Inspector of Explosives, justifies a further reduction, the distance shown in the Table may be reduced to one-quarter. In no case, however, is the distance from a Viceregal Residence to be less than one mile.

N.B.—The figures in small italics are the distances to be observed when ordinary gunpowder only is to be stored or other explosives up to the equivalent of five thousand pounds of gunpowder, every half pound of such other explosive being reckoned as one pound of gunpowder. In the case of manufactured fireworks specially approved in writing by the Chief Inspector four pounds gross weight may be reckoned as the equivalent of one pound of other explosive.

(2) The detonator annexe must be so constructed that not less than two feet of masonry and three feet of air-space shall intervene between any detonators in such annexe and the interior of the main magazine.

TABLE SHOWING DISTANCES WHICH SHOULD ORDINARILY BE KEPT CLEAR IN AND ROUND MAGAZINE PREMISES.

In any case where any of the items enumerated in the first column of this Table is, in the opinion of an Inspector of Explosives, effectively screened from a magazine either by the natural features of the ground or by good and substantial artificial mounds of earth or mine refuse, of such height that a line drawn from any part of the magazine to any part of the item in question will pass through the intervening ground or mound, the distance from that item (except for quantities of one thousand pounds of explosives and under) may be reduced to one-half. Provided that when a natural hill so intervenes as to afford a degree of protection which, in the opinion of an Inspector of Explosives, justifies a further reduction, the distance shown in the Table may be reduced to one-quarter. In no case, however, is the distance from a Viceregal Residence to be less than one mile.

N.B.—The figures in small italics are the distances to be observed when ordinary gunpowder only is to be stored or other explosives up to the equivalent of five thousand pounds of gunpowder, every half pound of such other explosive being reckoned as one pound of gunpowder. In the case of manufactured fireworks specially approved in writing by the Chief Inspector four pounds gross weight may be reckoned as the equivalent of one pound of other explosive.

(1) The amount of explosive contained in the detonators must not exceed 100 lbs. reckoned in the proportion of not less than 2½ lbs. of explosive per 1,000 detonators :—

(This proportion represents roughly about 44,000 detonators of "sextuple" strength, with detonators of greater strength the number would be of course less.)

(2) The detonator annexe must be so constructed that not less than two feet of masonry and three feet of air-space shall intervene between any detonators in such annexe and the interior of the main magazine.

TABLE SHOWING DISTANCES WHICH SHOULD ORDINARILY BE KEPT CLEAR IN AND ROUND MAGAZINE PREMISES.

[See note (b) to Form D.]

In any case where any of the items enumerated in the first column of this Table is, in the opinion of an Inspector of Explosives, effectively screened from a magazine either by the natural features of the ground or by good and substantial artificial mounds of earth or mine refuse, of such height that a line drawn from any part of the magazine to any part of the item in question will pass through the intervening ground or mound, the distance from that item (except for quantities of one thousand pounds of explosives and under) may be reduced to one-half. Provided that when a natural hill so intervenes as to afford a degree of protection which, in the opinion of an Inspector of Explosives, justifies a further reduction, the distance shown in the Table may be reduced to one-quarter. In no case, however, is the distance from a Viceregal Residence to be less than one mile.

N.B.—The figures in small italics are the distances to be observed when ordinary gunpowder only is to be stored or other explosives up to the equivalent of five thousand pounds of gunpowder, every half pound of such other explosive being reckoned as one pound of gunpowder. In the case of manufactured fireworks specially approved in writing by the Chief Inspector four pounds gross weight may be reckoned as the equivalent of one pound of other explosives.

RESOLUTION.

(TARIFFS.)

The 20th July 1940.

No. 6-T./Sim./40.—The Government of India have been asked to permit the import of alumina free of duty in order to enable the manufacture of aluminium to be started in India. The munitions and armaments industries are calling for increased supplies of aluminium, and its early manufacture in this country is therefore an urgent war necessity.

The Government of India have accordingly decided to encourage production by exempting imported alumina from the payment of duty. The concession will remain in force until the expiry of four years from now or until adequate supplies of alumina made in India are available at a reasonable price, whichever may be earlier; the decision as to when such supplies are available in India will lie with the Government of India.

The quantity of duty free alumina which will be allowed to be imported during the period of the concession will be decided by the Government of India separately for each firm seeking to import.

2. The Government intend, in accordance with the above decision, to authorise the Chief Customs Authority to issue orders from time to time under the second part of Section 23 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, permitting the import of alumina free of duty so long as the above conditions are fulfilled.

ORDER :—

ORDERED that a copy of this Resolution be communicated to all Provincial Governments, all Chief Commissioners, the several Departments of the Government of India (including

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Dacca, the 1st August 1940.

First Forecast of the Sugarcane Crop of Bengal, 1940-41.

(Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1938-39, the area under sugarcane in Bengal has represented some 7·8 per cent. of the total area under sugarcane in India.)

Character of the season.—The season has been a favourable one for sugarcane. The light rainfall in February followed by good showers in March facilitated the field and planting operations. In April, however, scanty rainfall retarded the operations to a little extent; but the subsequent fairly widespread rainfall in May and occasional showers with alternate sunshine in June more than recouped the situation and the crop has been making good progress.

Area planted.—The total area planted with sugarcane for the province is estimated at 333,300 acres this year as against 315,800 acres in the final forecast last year. The increase in area planted with sugarcane as compared with last year is due to favourable weather condition and high price of gur.
